

Nevada County Fair All Set, Opens Four-Day Run Thursday

The Nevada County District Fair will open tomorrow, Thursday, August 22 in Grass Valley and run through August 25 with one of the greatest number of entries ever entered

One Man's Opinion

By CARL BRIGGS

There is another move in the wind to change the name of Old Highway 40 in the Soda Springs-Kingvale area of Nevada County to Pla-Vada Way, presumably in honor of a local subdivision developed by the same name.

Portions of the highway in Nevada County, notably in the Truckee-Donner Lake area, are now officially called Emigrant Way, and it is likely that all of the Placer County portion of the road will be so named in the near future.

Emigrant Way is an altogether fitting designation and one that seems highly suitable for the entire extent of that historic thoroughfare. The name bespeaks the colorful history of the area and is at one dignified, accurate and descriptive.

While the developer might be excused for seeking to identify the highway with his project and to gain all the advantage he can therefrom, the name Pla-Vada strikes me as having rather a commercial character and not really very inspiring for a scenic and historic highway—or for a subdivision either, for that matter.

(I am proceeding on the assumption that Pla-Vada is a combination and contraction of the words Placer and Nevada, but I will stand corrected if there turns out to have been a famous scout and mountain man named Kit Pla-Vada.)

This name-change business started in 1966 and has been through several hearings and discussions since then. On the basis of a new application by the developer, a hearing has been scheduled by the Nevada County Planning Commission for Friday, September 13, at a time and place yet to be announced.

It would seem that persons and organizations interested in maintaining a modicum of historical significance and decorum in the area might like to attend this hearing and perhaps put down the insurrection once and for all.

While I'm aginnin', let me briefly mention the periodically recurring proposals to build a Tahoe west shore highway that includes a bridge across the mouth of Emerald Bay and a cut-and-fill monstrosity along the lake-facing slopes of Emerald Bay and D. L. Bliss State Parks.

This is the favored plan, while the general route of the existing highway around the perimeter of Emerald Bay is the alternate, or unfavored, plan.

There is nothing wrong with the present road that widening and modernizing won't correct—including a tunnel and concrete shed through the rock slide area—and there is no real justification for the proposed bridge and encroachment into the park lands.

While it is true the present road has badly scarred the lake shore in some places, why compound the problem by scarring it again, and worse than ever? Creating a second eyesore won't remove the first one.

Been stuck behind a stinky bus lately? On a two-lane road in heavy traffic where you couldn't pass?

As the black, acrid clouds of kerosene smoke—or diesel fuel, stove oil, cleaning solvent, or whatever it is they burn—fill your car and asphyxiation commences, as an oily film spreads over your windshield, as the will to survive begins to ebb and wane, perhaps you would wonder as I did what happened to that legislative bill a couple of years ago that would require bus exhausts to emit skyward as they do on trucks, in the history of the Fair.

The exhibit buildings are completely filled with over 5000 entries cleverly displayed and arranged by the men and women who have worked in the various departments for the past several years, and according to secretary-manager Malcolm E. Hammill, that they have become experts in their departments.

Four full days of entertainment have been arranged by the management, starting Thursday morning with a grand and colorful opening ceremony featuring cowgirls; the Maid of Nevada County, Miss Melody Nobles; and federal, state, county and city officials as special guests.

There will be "kids days" Thursday and Friday with races and contests for cash prizes, and a bicycle road-race Friday, the first ever held at a County or District Fair, a unique event designed to fun and safety with the co-operation of the California Automobile Association, Harold De Garro, the original stillman, will appear on the grounds every day with free balloons for the kids.

There will be free entertainment on an outdoor stage under the gigantic Ponderosa pine trees every afternoon featuring the popular "Wheeler's" a trio of professional marimba artists. Also the Blue Streaks, a fast and daring skating duo fresh from a long engagement at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas. A local popular trio of high school girls known as the "2 Plus 1 Trio" will also entertain on Thursday.

A teen dance on the outdoor dance slab with "The Wild Oats" will be held Thursday night and a free junior horse show in the arena with over 200 entries will start at 6:30 p.m.

There will be two championship western rodeos, on Friday and Saturday nights. There will be wild action out of every chute, as the stock of Western Rodeos, Inc. will be used. Many of these wild Hicks and Russell bulls and horses have never been ridden. As a special event, $20 will be paid the best-dressed girl barrel-racer on both Friday and Saturday nights.

On Sunday there will be the annual dog show, which draws exhibitors from many western states, and a junior livestock auction. Sunday night, Al Frager will present another of this exciting destruction derbies.

There will also be square dancing on Friday and Saturday nights on the outdoor dance slab.

The fairgrounds are all ready, with beautiful colored flowers lining the walks and roads, and acres of shade under the stately pine trees.

Carnival Time Shows will play at the fair all four days.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Installation

Swiss Lakewood Lodge in Homewood will be the setting for the Tahoe Forest Hospital Auxiliary Installation Dinner on Wednesday, September 4.

The recipient of the Charlotte Pauoude Scholarship for 1968 is Holly Wall, a University of California at Davis student, with a medical technology major. Holly's parents are Mr. and Mrs. M.S. Flurry Of Auto Accidents On Freeway During Week

Three motor vehicle accidents within 500 feet of each other and within two hourtime Saturday resulted in the death of two people and injuries to 20 others.

The mishaps occurred near Farad on Interstate 80, just west of the state line.

In the most serious of the two crashes, James Henry Myers, Jr., 19, of Oakland, the driver, and his 15-year-old brother, Donald, were killed when a tire apparently blew out as they were driving west, causing the car to swerve into the east-bound lane where it collided with a car driven by James Andrade, 50, of Livermore, who was critically injured.

Myers and members of his family, including his bride of a few hours, Jewel, 22, were enroute back to Oakland from Reno and he was scheduled to enter the armed service Monday.

Also critically injured were Mrs. Alise Myers, 50, Oakland,

Collisions Kill One Man, Injure Others

Patrick F. Monahan, 25, of San Francisco was killed when he was ejected from a car driven by Thomas Linder, 30, Daly City at 4 p.m. Monday. They were driving west on Interstate 80 just east of the Soda Springs interchange.

The California Highway Patrol said that bald tires, rain, and a high wind caused the car to hydroplane and run off the road into the rocky divider section. The driver was not seriously injured. Patrolman J. B. Short from the Truckee station investigated.

In another freeway accident Monday morning, five people were injured, including a four-month-old baby boy, when a west bound car driven by Arkady Shebalin, 34, Daly City, skidded on wet pavement a mile and a half west of the Truckee quarantine station and overturned down an embankment.

The infant was thrown 30 feet through the air and landed in a Manzanita bush, which probably saved its life, according to investigating patrolmen. The baby suffered a fractured skull. Others taken to the hospital with serious injuries included the driver, his wife Valentine, 25, Mrs. Helen Karip, 56, and Boris Shebalin, age 7.

Patrolmen said the car had smooth rear tires and apparently skidded 135 feet before leaving the roadway. A Truckee Fire Department unit was called to extinguish a blaze that started after the occupants had been removed from the vehicle.

and Mrs. Rose Andrade, 42, Livermore. The bride suffered minor injuries. Ernest Butler, 26, Oakland, in the Andrade car suffered minor hurts. Sergeant William Mintline and Officer Charles Pennino were called to make the investigation and ambulances were rushed from Truckee and Reno with Nevada Highway Patrol officers and passing motorists assisting in tending the injured.

ELEVEN INJURED (8) In the first accident, more spectacular, but less tragic, then the second, 11 people were injured, some believed critically, in a three car collision.

Vehicle No. 1, driven by Claude Compton, 32, Arnold, Calif., was west bound and was attempting to turn left across the painted divider and struck Vehicle No. 2, driven by John Robison, 30, Oakland, in the rear. The Compton car was knocked into the eastbound lane where it was struck by vehicle No. 3, operated by Joe Bjarchi, 36, San Francisco.

The eleven occupants of the three cars were strewn over the highway and traffic wasted up for some time as California Highway Patrol officers, passing motorists and officers from the Nevada Highway Patrol gave assistance to the injured.

Seven of the victims were taken to a Reno hospital and four to the Tahoe Forest Hospital in Truckee.

Those taken to Reno were Claude Compton, Linda Compton, 25, Ann Compton 6, Sandra Compton 3, all of Arnold, Joe Bjarchi and Iradj Bjarchi, 34, San Francisco, and Bonnie Jean Robison of Oakland.

In the Tahoe Forest Hospital are Donna Jane Compton, Arnold, Charles Lee, 19, Oakland, Sam Hill, 20, Oakland and Willie J. Hill, 29, Oakland.

OVER BANK (8) A pickup truck ran off the highway at the scene of the 3-car crash to avoid striking the injured and a San Jose couple suffered minor injuries. The pickup went 200 feet down the embankment, landing on its wheels.

Rare Summer Snow Storms Strike Area

Snow in the middle of August? Impossible, you say. Nevertheless this area was visited by a typical winter storm last Friday night when two inches of snow fell on Donner Summit and the "chains advisable" sign was displayed on the Brockway shortcut. The top of Mt. Rose was white and traffic was delayed as visibility became impaired.

While Truckee itself escaped the snow, 16 of an inch of rain fell during a violent lightning storm about 9 p.m. Thunder literally rocked buildings and the electrical display lighted the area as though it was midday.

The storm resulted in a tragic airplane accident and started incipient fires. Two or three minor motor vehicle accidents were reported.

Old timers argued over the question of whether or not this region had ever experienced such a snow storm in August and the event Friday gave ample proof that one can occur whether it ever did before or not.

The rain dampened the forests and temporarily, at least, prevented fires.

Two Die In Airplane Crash Near Squaw Valley

A blinding sleet storm over the Sierra Friday evening was blamed for the crash of a light plane on Tinkers Knob near Squaw Valley which claimed the lives of two prominent Orinda men.

The bodies of James Yokum Smith, 38, and his brother-in-law, John Luke Sherry, 38, were recovered from the ashes of the ill-fated aircraft Saturday by Placer County sheriff's deputies.

The single-engine four-place Beechcraft Bonanza disappeared from radar tracking at 5:12 p.m. It is believed the plane went down in the storm after it diverted from the Truckee-

Tahoe airport, where the occupants had intended to land, in order to land at South Lake Tahoe.

The wreckage and fire was spotted minutes after the crash by a plane from the Truckee airport.

When the aircraft crashed, it exploded and a minor forest fire was started despite the two inches of snow which covered the area. The inmate "hot shot" crew from Hobart Mills was dispatched to the scene Saturday morning to mop up the blaze in the nearby brush.

It was apparent, according to investigators from the Federal Aviation Agency from Oakland and Reno, that the plane crashed straight down and settled after the explosion.

The victims of the crash owned summer homes at Lake Tahoe and were enroute there to spend the weekend with their wives, Mrs. Barbara Smith and Mrs. Patricia Sherry and families, when they ran into bad weather conditions over the summit.

Smith was in the real estate business and Sherry a lawyer. Both were well known in the Lake Tahoe community.

Hotel Request Is Deferred

RENO — A request to build a three-story, 65-foot high hotel on Lake Tahoe land has been deferred by the Washoe County Board of Adjustment.

The land involved has been zoned for buildings not more than 35 feet high. Site involved is at Tyrolian Village.

It was planned that the lodge-style hotel, by Tyrolian Village Inc., would have 30 rental units, a bar and restaurant.

Raymond Smith, vice president of the corporation, had requested a waiver of the county's height limit on the land, zoned for commercial use.

The zoning board directed county planning official Homer Bronneke to inspect the prospective hotel site to determine if the structure would conform architecturally to its neighborhood.

In other action, the board endorsed two requests of Sierra Pacific Power Co. One was for permission to construct an electrical sub-station in Incline Village; the other, to install a water well and pump house at 7070 S. Virginia St.

Social Security Representative Here Tuesday

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be in Truckee on Tuesday, August 27. He will be at Room 3, County Office building between 9 and 11 a.m.

He will be in Tahoe City at the community center (upstairs) between 1 and 2 p.m.

Anyone having questions about Social Security can contact him there and he will be happy to assist you.

REMOTE MOUNTAIN AREA — Darkness and inclement weather, including snow, prevented rescue and fire crews from reaching downed airplane until Saturday morning; small fires were still burning at rugged mountain crash site and were quickly extinguished.

Thieves Set To Congregate, Voting At 18 Hold Market This Weekend

Friday, August 23 and Saturday, August 24 at the proposed dates for the Thieves Market, the most exotic of the northlake area's rummage sales.

Sponsored by the Tahoe Squaws, and held at the Tahoe Lake Elementary School in Tahoe City, proceeds of the event go to pay for the help rendered to the Mother Lode Library Association, the Tahoe

City School Library, scholarships, and other varied programs.

Hours for the event are from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday, and 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturday.

The Tahoe Squaws wish to thank all those who have donated to the sale. Come and find bargains galore.

CARSON CITY — Gov. Paul Laxalt has proposed a lowering of voting age from 21 to 18.

The governor's proposal will be submitted to the legislature in January. In 1967 the proposal first came up, but died in an assembly committee after passing the senate.

The governor said he had no thoughts about whether he favored changing laws allowing males to marry or enter into contracts at 18 rather than 21.

Quiet Squaw Valley Observance Of India's Independence Day

India's Independence Day was celebrated quietly in Squaw Valley on August 15, by a handful of people unable even (by Indian edict) to fly their national flag. Jehangir Patel, a recent graduate of Yale with a degree in political science, is waiting on tables at the Squaw Valley Lodge for the summer, and at the request of the Sierra Sun has put into words his feelings on that day.

"August 15, 1968, marked India's twenty-first year of independence. Unlike the other countries that celebrate their independence day with happy festivities, India's day of liberty is a day of remorse and retrospect. Independence brought with it the partitioning of the sub-continent into India and Pakistan and the bitterness and hatred that has followed between the two, not to forget the assassination of Gandhi a year later.

If one were to attend any of the numerous raising flag ceremonies held throughout the country on this day, he would hear speeches and odes, lauding the freedom struggle and struggles. Many men would be remembered and many forgotten. The spirit of revolution would be much credited; that of reason, less so.

There would be many present to condemn the British and a handful to praise them. Some would talk of the "progress" India has made in these 21 years and others would mention the "mess" she is in. In short there would be an ambivalence, one that will remain until people can look at this day a little more objectively.

It was Gandhi who preached non-violent disobedience. It was Dr. Ambedkar who counseled against it. Gandhi felt the people were ready for his means of opposition. Besant felt they were not. She sensed the inherent danger of so potent a weapon. She realized that in the long run it would be destructive to democracy because democracy is built on responsibility, not disruption. But without freedom, "democracy" and "responsibility" are hollow words.

Too often one looks upon such a day with what is mistaken for patriotic fervor. To speak in terms less than glorious is heresy. The advantage of scrutinizing such a day from the viewpoint of youth is that one can be more objective, more questioning and perhaps more cynical. After all you were not an active part of that struggle. And in the years to come, fewer and fewer people will be. Then the remorse will be replaced by pop corn and parades, for a holiday is a holiday no matter what the past."

Visitors

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Langille of Truckee were Capt. and Mrs. James Leamon of Yuba City who, with sons Jim and David, returned from traveling in Canada.

No doubt everyone will want to vote at the general election Nov. 5, but unless you are properly registered on or before Sept. 12 the opportunity will be lost. That means that you have only three short weeks left to qualify. It takes only a matter of two or three minutes to register so we suggest that you do so immediately before you forget or delay too long. Important issues will be decided and each vote will be counted.

It was our pleasure last week to witness a presentation of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" at the Music Circus in Sacramento where two very charming young Truckee women, Lanny and Patsy Tapia, took part. The show itself was delightfully amusing and starred several veteran actors, but being loyal to our local community and its products, we must report that the Tapias were outstanding and conducted themselves as professionals in their portrayal of The Geminae.

We were advised the other day that there was no directional sign indicating Truckee at the west intersection of State Route 89 and Emigrant Way, a mile west of town. We checked and found this to be true. Signs point the way to Donner Lake, Sacramento and Reno, but strangely enough, Truckee is not shown. It may be that a sign was removed or destroyed, but we think that at this busy intersection it should be prominently displayed.

Speaking of signs, others which can stand corrected and about which we have been writing since the 1940 census, is the figure noted as you enter the community showing Truckee with a population of 1025. Since we have approximately 1000 voters it is reasonable to presume the number of inhabitants will far exceed the published figure.

Here's Riley

By Ernie Riley
England, 1916! The young boy of thirteen sat in the third floor classroom dressed in his Eton collar and knee britches, paying little attention to the subject at hand. Restlessly he gazed out the window, dreaming of far off lands, especially the United States — he just had to get away.

The decision was made. He slid down the drain pipe and headed for the London docks where it would be easy to stow away on a ship for Canada. As the ship sailed out of port in the early evening, his thoughts turned to home and the life he was leaving behind. He'd miss his family. Dad, who was a member of the King's army and personal guard to the Prince of Wales; Mother, who was dedicated to Dad and her fine children. But for all that, the lad felt free for the first time.

He was discovered early the next morning and put to work in the galley. Things began to change. Homesickness set in, but little sympathy came from the rugged crew for a kid who would run away from home. He worked hard, but secretly wished that he had never left home.

Three weeks of endless oceans, then Montreal, Canada! In the excitement of landing, the boy was able to jump ship and avoid being sent back to England. With a few shillings in his pocket, he started for Vancouver, British Columbia, where an uncle lived. But the uncle was never found.

The next few years were spent doing odd jobs, anything to exist, but the urge to reach the United States was so strong that he thought of little else. Eventually he reached Seattle. A three-year hitch in the U. S. Army enabled him to become an American citizen.

After that it was several years in Hollywood in silent movies, several years with Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland, then to Squaw Valley for the 1960 Olympics.

Somewhere time was found to marry, raise four children and become the grandfather of 11 grandchildren. Most of the past years have been a struggle because of lack of education.

But now the rewards are many, being able to live and work in the beautiful Sierra Nevada, especially here in the Tahoe-Truckee area.

And here we are going to stay!

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

Reading the last weekly paper I got the idea you were unhappy about being alone. Well, this is one woman's opinion and that is keep up the good work as I for one think the Sierra Sun is outstanding and I have taken it ever since I lived near Truckee in 1953.

Had a cafe in the old Sportsman building that burned down. The one with the two bears in front. Across from the high school.

I was not there long as I fell and broke my leg in four places so could not cook too good and wait on people while on crutches. But I enjoyed every hour I spent up in that country. The little story behind all this is that one never knows what life has in store as you go through life.

In 1938 I came out from Minnesota to visit my brother in Santa Rosa. So we came into Truckee late and had our dinner and then went on to the cabins at Sportsman which was then owned by someone else not I. O. Gifford.

We spent the night there and took pictures in the morning. It was beautiful there and no buildings to amount to anything.

Now to come back to 1953. We lived in the same cabin I had in 1938, only this time I lay there with a large cast on and snow outside that nearly covered the cabin.

But I still loved every bit of it and you know that is saying a lot when you think we had no work or nowhere to look for any at that time of the year. My husband is a carpenter so you know what I mean.

Well to come to a happy ending, I worked at your telephone company for nearly a year and then left again for the bay area.

Hope this does not leave you cold, but I just like your work and all the rest of them on the paper so keep up the good work.

Sure had to laugh when you said about Herb Caen. You know when I was laying in bed with my broken leg and looking at the snow building up outside, I wrote a little letter to Herb Caen as he was telling about life in the mountains in the winter.

So I just thought I would give him a view of a poor man's way of looking at it. But I guess my little effort went into the waste basket. No matter, everyone to their own task.

Well, Mr. Briggs, I have taken enough of your time and if you feel so inclined, throw this in the wastebasket. As a story writer, I am a very good cook.

But what I wrote here is true and I have the pictures to prove it.

Best of luck and keep up the good work. Best little paper in California.

Mrs. Irene Jacobson (Just a silly 60-year-old lady)

Concord
(Editor's Note: Thank you for your cheerful letter, Mrs. Jacobson. I am neither unhappy nor alone, unless you were referring to my comments about the Republican—in which case I am very unhappy but still not alone.)

The remains of the Sportsman Cafe are completely gone now, leveled last spring in a cleanup effort. Other than that, Truckee has changed little since your snowbound winter.)

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

Why should the home-owners continue to carry the heavy burden of school tax? With the present tax system, the schools are not getting enough money to keep the teachers interested.

The state could adopt a one per cent school tax on every person with an income, on a withholding basis, and leave the present school tax on all income and business property.

What could be more fair and equitable than to let everyone with an income pay his fair share of school tax; this would include part-time workers, those who live in mobile homes and trailer courts; also the students after they graduate, get a job, then pay their fair share of tax to the institution that educated them for the job.

When a person retires, he would be relieved of most of the school tax; eventually the sales tax could be reduced, or at least not increased. This change can be done, and it would be an important step in revising our present tax system to a more equitable system, and eliminate school bonds.

If you want the property tax cut in half on your home, then clip this out and mail it with your signature and approval to a state senator or an assemblyman at the state capitol building, Sacramento, Calif. 95814.

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:
The Truckee-Donner Historical Society's next field trip into our historical past will be to Summit City on August 24 and 25.

Meadow Lake Dam — a work of art — was built by the Chinese in 1857 to furnish water for the gold mines down the western slopes, and the town of Summit City was constructed along the shore of Meadow Lake in 1860.

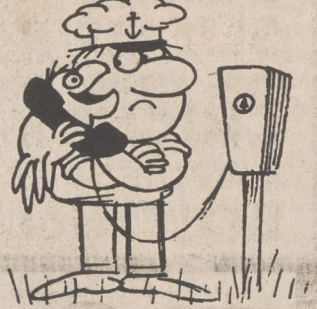

Because of the cloud burst in this area during the past week, it will be best to take only pickups or jeeps into the area. Members of the Truckee-Donner Horsemen's Association will also participate, so those of you planning to stay over night should bring weiners or steaks to make a group affair of it. Each party will be responsible for their own food, camp and fishing gear, etc. Don't forget shovel, rake, and a chain saw if possible, for the Club plans to clean up the Summit City Graveyard and re-outline the graves.

Manley Haltom will be in charge of arrangements for the trip. For further information please call the Sierra Appliance Store in Truckee.

The group will meet on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. in front of the Olympic Cafe in Truckee.

Native Sons And Daughters To Be Honored

The Native Sons of the Golden West and the Native Daughters of the Golden West — both statewide organizations — will be honored at The California Exposition Saturday, Aug. 31. An outstanding program of activity will greet the members of the organizations upon their arrival at the official "Showcase of the Golden State."

Featured will be a recognition ceremony and a special name handicap horse race for each group.

The recognition ceremony will take place at the Cal Expo fountain, located near the main gate. Grand officers of both organizations and exhibition officials will participate in the ceremony.

The special name horse races will be part of the day's regular racing program. Horse racing at Cal Expo will get under way

Aug. 26 with the 14-day meet. Twelve daily horse races will be offered on the new $5-million racing facility. Post time daily is 1:30 p.m.

Another highlight of the day will be the Barbara McNair

Show. Miss McNair, world famous songstress, will headline an exciting show packed with songs, comedy and dancing. The show will run from Aug. 30 to Sept. 3, with two shows daily at 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. in Exposition Center Plaza.

Archery Season To Open

California's archery bear and late archery deer hunting seasons open Saturday, August 24, the Department of Fish and Game reports.

Both seasons will continue through Sunday, September 15. Archery deer limits are the same as those for the rifle seasons — one buck forked horn or better in the general season area; two bucks forked horn or better in the northwest area; and one buck three points or better in the northeast area.

The limit on bears is two per season, provided that no person may take more than two bears whether taken by firearms or bow and arrow. Southern California is closed to bear hunting this season.

Deer hunters are required to have a valid 1968-69 hunting license ($4) and deer tags ($2); bear hunters need a hunting license and bear tags ($1).

Incline Bowl Leagues Open

New Incline Bowl manager Roy Gawronski announced that the Bowl is now organizing its fall leagues and has a full schedule of plans for north area bowlers.

There will be a free spaghetti feed "kick-off dinner" at the Bowl on September 14 to help new bowlers get acquainted, and to introduce the newest tournament, "Break The Bank Doubles."

For further information contact the following representatives in your area. Truckee Hazel Beck 587-3754, and Charley Vind 587-3786; Tahoe City, Curt and Juanita Hicks 583-4465; Kings Beach, Jim Newlun 546-2210, and Ruth Adams 546-3807; Incline Village, Betty Sayre 831-0501.

New Marina Association Seeks Safety Improvements

Joseph Spott of Carnelian Bay, founder-executive director of the American Marina Association has an idea on how to improve overcrowded conditions on America's waterways.

Spott founded the AMA this year, along with John Sparks, former harbor master of Berkeley, in an effort to protect lives and property, as well as reduce property and insurance rates.

He'd also like to professionalize harbor police.

Spott has suggested that harbor police attend schools of marina safety and security, be licensed by a state board and accredit marinas and harbors for marine safety, among other things.

According to Spott, the association is versatile, with research projects that involve recreational and maritime safety; inspecting small craft to detect stolen boats and safety regulations; rescuing procedures for people in recreational areas and protection of life and property.

Spott has formed a school—called, coincidentally, Joseph Spott University College of Marina Safety and Security. It is a non-profit, accredited, private school in Orinda, for a seven-year-period.

He says if there is enough interest at the lake (Tahoe) to support a campus, the association will consider establishing one in this area.

Spott may be contacted at 24 Windsor, Kensington, Calif. for further information.

Tahoe-Truckee District Note Registration Plans

Tahoe-Truckee Unified School District has issued its registration regulations for the upcoming school year: "California State law requires that certain specific procedures be followed in enrolling children who enter California public schools for the first time. The principal is responsible for seeing that all the following requirements are met: 1. A child entering kindergarten must be five (5) years old on or before December 1 before he can be legally enrolled. 2. A child who has not attended kindergarten and is entering the first grade must be six years old on or before December 1 before he can be legally enrolled. Proof of age must be presented at the time of registration for school in the form of a legal document: (a) a birth certificate, (b) a baptismal certificate, or (c) a passport. In addition to the above proof of age, the laws of California require that any child entering school for the first time in California show proof of the following: a. Immunization against poliomyelitis. This may have been either Salk or Sabine vaccine. b. Evidence of immunity to measles (Rubeola) either as a result of having had measles or of having been immunized against measles. A statute provides for exemption from the immunization requirements if immunization is against the beliefs of the parent or guardian, or if a physician advises against immunization. However, a form requesting such exemption, signed by the parent, must be on file with the school.

Court Cases

The following cases were heard by Judge F. W. Wilson last week in Truckee judicial court: James Dennis Lucey, Kings Beach, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving; sentences to 60 days in Nevada County jail. Bobby Reed, Sacramento, pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding; fined $13. Richard L. Bilyeau, Reno, pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding; fined $23. Judge Wilson travelled to South Lake Tahoe August 14 to hold court at Lake Valley Justice Court in the absence of Judge Willard Ball.

Truckee-Donner Chamber of Commerce

Hoyfellet Lodge sits high atop the summit at Norden, California, and is a mountain paradise for sixth and seventh grade students of the Mount Diablo and Moraga School Districts.

Hosts Bob and Jan Maughan are young, and most enthusiastic about the OES Program (Outdoor Education School) that keeps the camp jumping, and Jan cooking huge piles of food during the summer months.

After a regular summer session course, the bay area students are bused into Norden for five-day stays at Hoyfellet (pronounced Hoy-fa-lay) where they complete their studies and have a real taste of the primitive life. The youngsters sleep out in the open, learn how to live off the land, learn money management by way of a general mercantile store, travel cross-country with the help of a compass, and receive summer school credits for their experience.

The Maughan's regular staff is implemented by teachers and helpers from the school districts.

Veteran counsellors are sixth grade teachers; James Travis, camp director; Ralph Cummings; and Mrs. Betty Jucksch; assisted by two college and three high school students. Also very much a part of the staff is "Little Spot," a tiny, white, blue-eyed kitten who wants to be and is the center of attention, and "Pepl" a devoted Weimaraner, who "hugs" anyone who pets him with his foreleg.

A partial itinerary of field trips included the Truckee Ranger Station, "Fanny Bridge" and the fish at the Tahoe City "Y," the Crystal Peak Lookout, Sand Harbor, Squaw Valley, the Snow Laboratory, Crater Lake, and a Yuba River race featuring boats made by the students.

The opportunity that is offered to these youngsters by these forward-looking school districts is unique, for how else can a generation of city-raised citizens learn a love for the rugged beauty of our Sierra.

A QUIET MOMENT — Taking moment out of their busy schedules, Bob and Jan Maughan of Hoyfellet Lodge are amused by "Little Spot". Participating during the summer in the OES Program (Outdoor Education School) and keeping church and school groups fed and busy during the winter months, leaves very little time for rest. The bear skin on the wall is all that remains of a camp marauder. — Sun Photo

Lightning Fells Tree

A lightning strike during the weekend storm caused a tree to fall onto a house belonging to Mrs. Frankie Zimmerman on the north shore of Donner Lake. The tree caused major damage to the residence, and later wind and rain added to the destruction. No one was in the house at the time.

Sierra Club River Races

The Sierra Club's San Francisco Bay Chapter, River Touring Section, will conduct its annual Truckee River White Water Slalom Races this weekend, August 24 and 25, commencing at 2 p.m. Saturday and continuing during the afternoon, and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday. Hosting the event will be the River Ranch.

Two Meetings Per Month For Chamber

The Truckee-Donner Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting Wednesday voted to return to a two-meetings-per-month schedule, commencing in September.

Meeting days will be second and fourth Wednesdays at noon, with the meeting places to be announced. Executive committee meetings will be periodical, at the discretion of the president.

In other business, president Carson White appointed a brochure committee to speed design and production of a map and brochure publicizing the Truckee-Donner area. In addition to White, the committee consists of Jack Marquette, Jay Price, and Brian Storm.

A chamber picnic originally planned for August 25 was indefinitely postponed because of a lack of sufficient preparation time, doubtful weather, and impending construction at the recreation park.

Truckee Horsemen's Association announced preliminary plans for a wagon train in August, 1969.

Rigoletto Now Being Staged By Reno's Nevada Opera Guild

An English-language version of Verdi's four-act tragic opera "Rigoletto", is currently playing eight performances in Reno, concluding Aug. 25.

"Rigoletto" is the second in a series of professional summer operas presented by the Nevada Opera Company, Ted Puffer, director, with visiting singing stars joining the local company for the show.

Based on Victor Hugo's play "Le roi s'amuse," the opera translated for this summer's performance by Puffer and his wife, Deena, a professional librettist.

The role of Rigoletto has been double-cast with Stan Burk alternating with Patrick Matthews in the baritone position. Burk sang Figaro in the just-completed run of "Barber of Seville" by the company and has sung leading opera roles in Colorado and San Francisco besides performing in musical theatre and television. Matthews, from Miami, Fla., sings with the Miami Municipal Opera and the Atlanta Summer Opera.

Charles Koehn, bass, is singing Sparafucile. He is a leading bass singer with the Boston Comic Opera, has sung in Europe and toured with the National Opera Company. He has sung with Joan Sutherland.

Theodore Rowland is singing the tenor role of the Duke of Mantua. He has sung at the Indiana University Opera Department, largest school department of its kind in the country, and has been a soloist with the U. S. Army Band in Washington, D. C.

The tragic soprano role of Gilda, Rigoletto's daughter, is sung by Joan Barber of Reno and Naunie Gardner, also of Reno, is singing Maddalena, a contralto role.

Prominent Reno singers who are also featured include Rosemary Mathews, Kin Allen, Janet Plambeck, Twanney Waldo, Robert Trimbull, Ron Emery, Dan Maxey, Sharon Davis and Keith Skogsberg.

Final performances are Thursday through Sunday this week. All curtain times are 8:15 p.m. except Sundays, when the opera will commence at 7:30 p.m. All shows are handsomely staged in the air-conditioned Reno Little Theatre. For reservations call the Reno Little Theatre.

"VIVE LES GIRLS" - Lovely Joan Pelethorpe is the lead dancer in Frederic Apar's all new 1968 "Vive Les Girls" revue now in its ninth week at North Lake Tahoe's Nevada Lodge. The continental, adults-only production is a potpourri of sophisticated entertainment featuring some of the world's most stunning showgirls and talented specialty acts. "Vive Les Girls" is staged nightly at Nevada Lodge, North Lake Tahoe's largest year-round resort hotel casino.

New Management At Chataux

New management, bringing a complete new look to the Incline Chataux, was today announced by Don Marek, vice president of Incline Village, Inc.

Bringing top menus, polished service and nationally known entertainment to the well-known North Lake Tahoe dining and dining club are the experienced team of Mario Bernardone, executive chef and Alfred Bonita, maitre d'.

Serving gourmet delights to Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Pat Boone and other national figures is routine for the new management duo, who have worked the top restaurants in the New York, Miami, San Francisco, Palm Springs circuit.

Alfred opened the Diplomat in Hollywood, Fla. in the early fifties, then went on to work for Puccini's, Los Angeles for Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford. This was followed by three years at Dino's, working for Dean Martin. Sinatra brought him up to the Cal-Neva when he bought it in 1962, to get things going properly. In 1965, Alfred took over as food and beverage boss for the Canyon Hotel, Palm Springs.

Backing Alfred as executive chef is Mario Bernardone, who opened the original Chataux five years ago when it was purely a summer operation. His accomplishments include a 1957 national award for originality of buffet layout. He topped 500 chefs at the New York Hotel Show to win first place. He apprenticed at the post Ye Olde Public House, Sturbridge, Mass., polished his skills at the famed New Haven Culinary Institute.

Mario has mouthwatering gourmet ideas that won't stop, picked up along a professional trail that includes the Fontainebleau, Miami; Mitch's, Oakland; Sunol Valley Country Club, Fremont; Hall of Horns, Hayward and the Cal-Neva at Crystal Bay.

Mario has kicked off his new regime with a different daily buffet luncheon. Starting Mondays, it's French, Italian, German, Irish, Scandinavian and winding up Sundays with a blue ribbon feast that tops everything.

Beautiful Girls Highlight Smash "Vive Les Girls," The Big Hit Show At North Lake Tahoe's Nevada Lodge

When master showman Frederic Apar brought his all-new 1968 "Vive Les Girls" revue to North Lake Tahoe's Nevada Lodge this year, there were those who said, "It can't be any better than last year!" But, according to critics, this year's dazzling production outdoes anything Apar has ever staged.

Nevada Lodge has hosted "Vive Les Girls" for five years, as an adults-only potpourri of sensational entertainment, featuring the world's most beautiful showgirls in imaginative settings. The show is staged nightly throughout the summer in Nevada Lodge's colorful Topaz Room.

The keynote is "girls, girls, girls" ... featuring some of the most spectacularly beautiful showgirls in the world ... displayed in brilliantly costumed sequences that turn North Lake Tahoe into Paris for a few hours.

In starring roles this year are comic Beryl Williams and Australian songstress Line Turner. As lead exotic dancer, Apar was successful in signing beautiful Joan Pelethorpe; her male counterpart is exciting Ron Watson. Costuming, choreography, music, set design ... all are focused on presenting to Nevada Lodge audiences a brilliant continental show. "Vive Les Girls" is staged nightly at Nevada Lodge. In overall impact the production offers the excitement of a Parisian Follies, the jolly fun of an American carnival and the sophistication of a continental nightclub performance.

From opening fanfare to closing finale, the stage is alive with stunning women, lavishly costumed; brilliant specialty acts, featuring the wild comedy of Beryl Williams to the awesome magic of Ken Alan; and a continuing parade of top level adult entertainment.

In addition to the nightly "Vive Les Girls" production, Nevada Lodge also presents continuous dusk-till-dawn entertainment in the lounge.

At left is Mario Bernardone, executive chef, boss of all Incline food operations at the Chataux, Bowling Alley and Ski Incline. North Shore Club Featuring Fashions, Liberace, Austin

Milady is having "Her Day" every Wednesday noon at the North Shore Club Hotel "oohing and aahing" as attractive models parade the fashions of the day between the tables of the crowded dining room. The "Strolling Fashions" promenade is produced each Wednesday noon by Betty Gelber, Reno's outstanding delineator of fashions.

The beautiful fashions displayed last week were from the outstanding collections of Sax of Reno and Miss Sax; those of subsequent Wednesdays will be furnished by Gina's Fashions and by the Fashion Shoppe. Every Wednesday, the showings will be enhanced by beautiful furs from Lester Conklin Fur Shop while the alluring wigs originate at the Ponderosa Beauty Salon.

Each week the North Shore Club's beautiful models will present different fashions. The "Strolling Fashion Show" begins at noon and continues until 2 p.m. Ladies have given it an enthusiastic welcome, because the show has an unusual pattern, that of having the models saunter around the dining room and between the tables so that everyone has an opportunity to carefully look at the fabrics, the design of the garment and ponder the price.

While the exciting show is progressing, luncheon is served. A large variety of delectable noonday specials are offered by the celebrated chefs of the North Shore Club. As dusk approaches, the myriad of Lake Tahoe tourists begin their trek to "the place to dine since '49." The crowds this summer have been tremendous.

'Dim' Hope For Compact O.K.

RENO — Sen. Alan Bible said he "is not optimistic" that the Lake Tahoe bi-state compact will pass Congress in the short time left in this session.

The senator, speaking before the Reno Press Club Tuesday, feels "the compact has only an outside chance" of approval when Congress meets next month. However, he added, the compact could be reintroduced in January, when Congress meets again.

Lounge At Crystal Bay Club Offers Coquettes, Treniers

The big Stage Lounge of North Lake Tahoe's Crystal Bay Club is the scene of a rousing, rollicking razzamatazz these nights, as the irrepressible Treniers team up with the captivating Coquettes to give out with the grooviest music and the wackiest comedy that's been seen around these parts in long time.

The Coquettes are a sextet (no pun intended) of girls whose good looks are exceeded only by their tremendous talents. All told, these girls play 20 musical instruments, and the net result is sheer artistry in music. It's difficult to believe that the tremendous big band sound that fills the Crystal Bay Club could emanate from just six girls.

Outstanding among the many numbers offered to the naked lounge was a magnificent rendition of "Summertime," an organ solo by Kathy Diamond, complemented by terrific backing on the drums by Sandra Smith. When this gal Kathy riffs those keys, the audience sits in stunned silence as the rich sound fills the room, building ever and ever higher to a climax that has the whole house leaping to their feet and applauding wildly; so wildly, in fact, that Kathy and Sandra had to give it "one more time." Swinging the pendulum to the other end of the scale, Sandra raps out an unbeatable drum solo of "When the Saints Go Marching In," proving beyond a shadow of a doubt that she is truly one of America's top female drummers.

The Coquettes, headed up by Jo Ann Bon, are probably the greatest female group to hit show business since the days of Phil Spitalny and his all-girl orchestra, back in the 30's. It's an act that has to be seen to be appreciated, and once seen is never forgotten.

The same must be said about the fabulous Treniers, whose boundless energy and infectious enthusiasm fill the Stage Lounge with laughter, rhythm, music that's nothing less than great, and some of the finest vocal renditions to be heard anywhere. When one sees and hears the Treniers, it's easy to understand why they return to the Crystal Bay Club season after season, always seeming to present a finer act.

There are eight men in this group, and they operate with all the smooth precision of a red-hot V-8, literally accelerating the audience into orbit with a musical comedy act that's out of this world. From oldies like "On a June Night," to the unforgettable Nat King Cole favorite, "Love," to recent Emmy award winners like "Up, Up and Away," the Treniers keep the audience in a dizzy whirl of exciting entertainment for a solid hour at a time.

The pantomime comedy, the exorcisingly funny gags, the irresistible way in which they draw the audience into the act, all combine to make the affair more of a giant party than a stage show. That the audience appreciates this empathy is demonstrated by the fact that patrons simply would not let the Treniers leave the stage when the act was finished; they had to respond to the thunderous applause by giving out with two more numbers.

The Treniers and the Coquettes are busting out at the seams every night, filling the Stage Lounge with music and comedy, at the Crystal Bay Club, on the North Shore of Lake Tahoe.

Set Average Tax Rates

The average property tax rate in Nevada County in the 1967-68 year was $7.02 per $100 of assessed value, a gain of 21 cents, the State Board of Equalization reported last week.

The average property tax rate in Placer County was $8.09 for the same period, a gain of 16 cents.

"The statewide average rose only six cents above the fiscal 1967 year to $8.90, a sharp slackening from the 15-30 cent hikes in recent years," Member Paul Leake said.

Although total levies from the property tax reached a record $4.1 billion in California in the past fiscal year, higher assessments and new local government revenues slowed the tax rate increase.

"An additional $223 million in school aid from the state, $30 million in cigarette taxes, and $36 million more in sales taxes helped local government in holding down tax rates," Leake said.

On a per person basis, the property tax burden rose on the average from $194 to $208. This compared to the per capita gain in Nevada County from $168.49 to $189.42, and in Placer County from $211.71 to $231.14.

Statewide, cities claimed 12 cents from each property tax dollar, counties 29 cents, the schools 53 cents, and special districts six cents — all unchanged from the 1966-67 year.

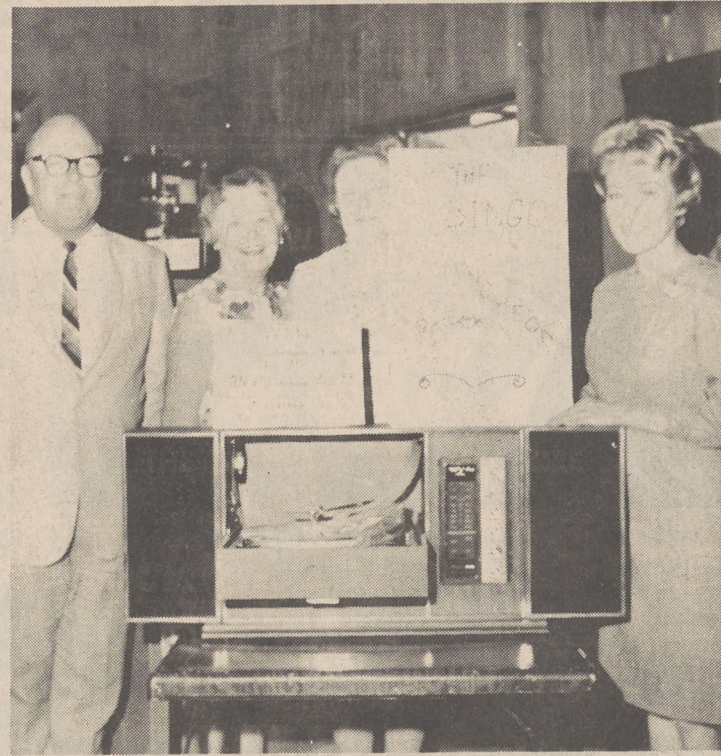

In Nevada County, five cents went to the cities, 38 cents to the county, 52 cents to the schools, and five cents to special districts.

In Placer County, five cents went to the cities, 29 cents to the county, 55 cents to the schools, and 11 cents to special districts.

In each of the last two years, total assessed value of taxable property increased about $4 billion. But the average tax rate increase of 31 cents a fiscal year ago shrank to six cents this year with more state support for schools and other local government. In 1965-66 the rate rose 22 cents.

Of the total 1967-68 property levy, $2.2 billion was used by schools, $1.1 billion by counties, $475 million by cities and $249 million by revenue districts such as soil conservation, lighting, fire and water.

Violinist Performs In Incline Village Concert

The final program of the Chamber Music series Wednesday, at Incline Village will feature violin virtuoso David Abel performing J. S. Bach's Concerto No. 1 in A Minor for Violin and Strings. Also featured will be the Palo Alto Chamber Orchestra conducted by William Whitson and the solo performance of William Armstrong playing J. S. Bach's Klavier Concerto in F Minor. The concert is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. at the new Incline High School in Incline Village. Abel has concertized extensively for the past twelve years and has appeared in most major cities of the United States. In addition, he has played in Mexico, Peru, Canada, and in Europe, where he gave a series of successful recitals in London, Oslo, Munich, Berlin, Zurich and Amsterdam.

Abel's musical talent revealed itself at an early age, and he began his study of the violin when he was four years old. He received all his musical training in the Western part of the United States. His principal teacher was the late Naouise Blinder. First of many appearances with the San Francisco Symphony came when Abel was fourteen, on the Young Peoples' Series with Kurt Herbert Adler conducting. Three years later came his professional debut with the same orchestra under Arthur Fiedler. This led to an appearance with the Boston Pops the following summer.

When he was nineteen Abel made his New York debut at Town Hall, winning praise from critics and audience alike. The following year Pierre Monteux invited him to appear with the Boston Symphony in a series of three concerts, one of which was broadcast over a national radio network.

He gave another successful Town Hall concert, and also received outstanding reviews for a recital at the National Gallery in Washington, D.C. He was soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony on a tour of the Western United States.

Ponderosa Breakfast Ride Is A Rewarding Experience

By ARTIS CLOFFELTER
Shades of the wild west, you leave at 8 a.m.? I hadn't misunderstood. The hour was set at 8 a.m. (dawn); the date, Thursday morning; and the occasion, a breakfast ride at the Ponderosa Ranch in Incline Village. Barely awake, but dressed the part of well-heeled dudes, my eleven year old son, Paul, and I appeared on Thursday and were bundled into an International four-wheel drive vehicle for the ride to the stables over-looking the Ranch, Incline Village, and Lake Tahoe.

The sights that greeted us were enough to make the heart proud of our western heritage. Teen-age boys and girls, working for the summer at the ranch and glowing with health, cheered the sleepy tourists on to greater feats of prowess in mounting their steeds, and off into the sunrise we set.

My mount, Gravy-Train, is a magnificent grey stallion who is very gentle, but needed only the slightest nudge to break into a trot (Oh my aching posterior, used only to fill a reporters chair). Paul's pinto had the original name of George.

Our ride up to the wagon camp took approximately 40 minutes. Tiny animals scampered across the trail and everyone spoke in a whisper as the silent forest cast its spell. The temperature was chilly, but one got the feeling of seeing it all through the eyes of the Cartwrights.

Breakfast prepared by chef Carl Ecklund, consisted of eggs, bacon, sausage, toast, coffee and milk, and one spreads great heaps of Ponderosa brand jellies all over the toast. All you could hold was the order of the day.

The return ride was even prettier, as I had stopped thinking about my empty stomach. Paul was so enthralled, that with very little coaxing on his part I agreed to ride for another hour.

Our cohorts on the ride (all 31 of them) were from all over California, some camping out, others staying in motels at north and south shore. They all were unanimous in their feeling that it had been a magnificent morning.

Ponderosa Ranch Gates Open Daily To Thousands Of Enchanted Tourists

The Ponderosa — the name brings to mind flaming brands, daring brothers and magnificent scenery, all marvels of TV magic; but the American public wanted more, and how much more is evidenced by the attendance records set this summer at the Ponderosa Ranch in Incline Village.

To date, nearly 150,000 visitors have entered the gates so recently opened. They come from everywhere and all feel that they have come to visit their personal friends, the Cartwrights. So many, particularly the elderly say, "We've been meaning to come for years." Rain, shine, heat, cold — they come.

The ranch hands talk to them, find out where they're from and pose with them. If the stars are at the Ranch, they stare; if not, there is still lots of local color, and an autograph from a genuine Ponderosa cow-poke will suffice.

New at the Ranch is "Little Joe's Delicatessen" featuring some of the best salami, pastрами and corned beef west of Chicago. Run by Joe and Phyllis Marchionni of Santa Rosa, a specialty of the house is Georgia sugar-cured hams and sausage. Motzarella and provoloni cheeses are also for sale. A "Hoss Special" sandwich is enough to feed a family.

The Deadwood Saloon is now open, featuring spirits and old west atmosphere.

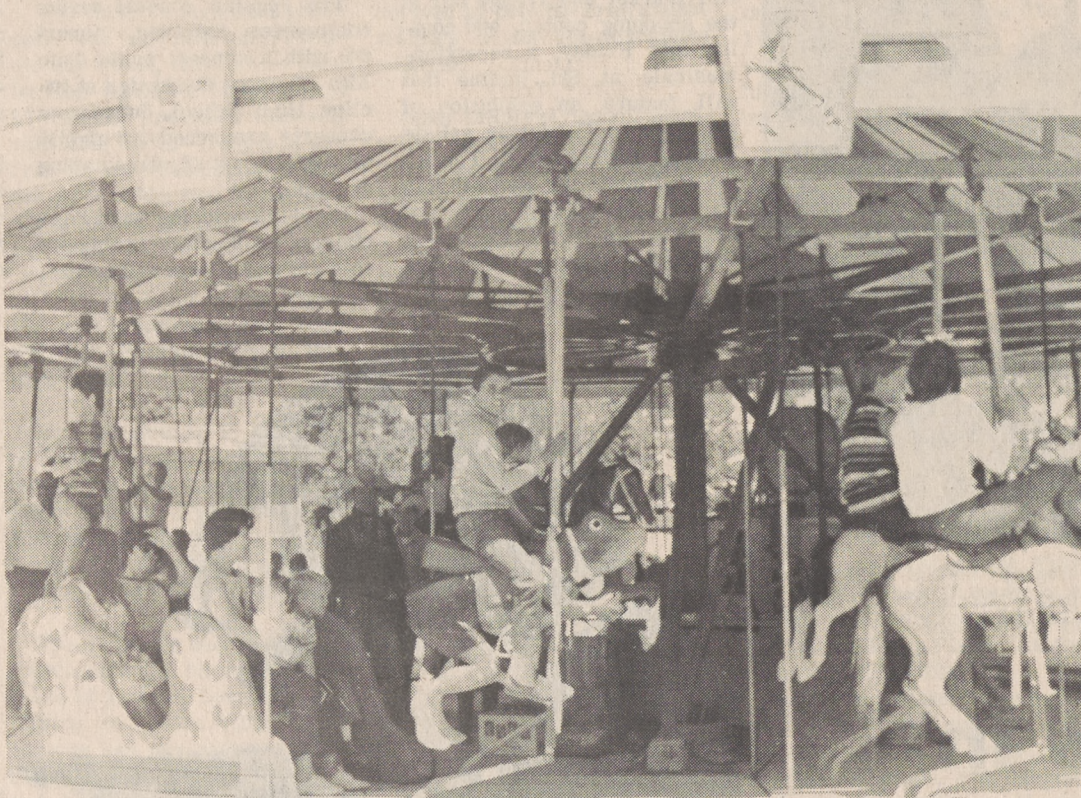

The children's area has been partially finished and the carousel, complete with "carney" music, is going strong under the able hand of Wyatt Shephard, Shephard, who is 75 years young and hails from Castro Valley, started as a high-wire catcher and has been a part of every phase of show business, carnival type, including having had a show of his own.

The carousel, made by C. W. Parker of Wentworth, Kansas (the world's largest manufacturer of carousels), features hand-made animals carved by European artisans who settled in Kansas to farm.

They carve the wooden animals during the winter months. Owner Bill Anderson purchased the antique childrens ride with the stipulation that Shephard's services would accompany it. Completely reconditioned, the ride is a must for children of all ages.

Another highlight of the Ranch is the Saturday evening steak-try. A complete evening, it features live music, barbequed steaks with all of the trimmings, and all you can drink. Altogether, a day at the Ponderosa Ranch is an experience well worth the time, and it is an unusual place to take your out-of-town visitors.

THE MERRY-GO-ROUND — An antique carousel, completely reconditioned, features hand carved animals. The amusement park, soon to be a thing of the past elsewhere, is being re-created at the Ponderosa Ranch. — Sun Photo

WILD WEST HIPPIE — Violating the code of the west, Tom Reeves makes like a hippy, 1868 version. Would the west have been won if people had known this was to come? — Sun Photo

County O.K.s Pier Permit

AUBURN — The Placer County Board of Supervisors approved an appeal by Tahoe Marina Property of Tahoe City for a 755-foot pier. The board also indicated water depth may be used as criteria for allowing future piers.

The pier is part of an 80-unit condominium development and will be constructed near the outlet of the lake at Tahoe City.

According to engineer Norman Andregg, the additional length—305 feet longer than the county code permits, is required so there will be three feet of water at the low water mark.

Meeting Set On 'Export'

Sen. Stephen Teale, D-Railroad Flat, has called a meeting of state and local officials to examine efforts to export sewage from the Lake Tahoe Basin.

The meeting, to be held Sept. 6, will be held at the South Tahoe Public Utility District offices and feature progress reports on the export operation. Nevada officials have also been invited. Sen. Teale said "the state of California has poured a lot of money into these projects and the prospects look good that several million more will go into the basin before we have achieved the total export needed to protect the lake from pollution."

"Now is the time to find out just how far we have come toward this goal and what the local and state role will be in the future," he said.

Here's that woody column. Yes, Carson, Charlie and I had our first experience backpacking, however we went with friends from Sonora who are accustomed to such trips, and did we have a good time!

Ellie and Dick Holman and their two daughters, Jane and Christy, arrived for dinner here Tuesday the 6th, then we got busy packing our stuff, weighing, pre-frying bacon, repackaging everything from soup to nuts into double baggies. Small plastic bags pack easier than cartons and take up much less space and are a lot lighter.

Ended up with packs ranging from 12 to 33 pounds. Charlie had the heaviest, carrying the nested cooking pots. The rest of us had food, clothing, sleeping bags, tarps and the lucky Holman's had mattresses. We slept on the hard ground.

After Carson came home from the early-morning chamber of commerce meeting Wednesday, we took off with their car and our Wagoner for the Meadow Lake base camp.

Hiked around to see the Summit City cemetery, California Lake, Anderson Mine and others, swam in the lake, fished and enjoyed our first night out. Could hear the drone of the train in the distance, and had read that when the Central Pacific was being built, the explosions rattled windows at Summit City.

Next morning we piled our back-packs into the jeep and headed for Baltimore Lake. Expected to hike down, but when the view through the binoculars proved that a bunch of Boy Scouts had taken over, decided to go on down to Wagon Wheel Lake, then hiked over the ridge and looked down at Beyers Lakes and the freeway and Lake Spaulding in the distance. Ended up making our own trail to French Lake and camped there. The full moon was beautiful, but ruined the fishing. Thought we had picked a spot that nobody had used before, but found an old old can opener buried in the decomposed granite.

Saddled up after breakfast and headed up stream, up and up to Baltimore Lake to find the car again, all without a trail. Many wildflowers in bloom along the way and even spotted some white Gentian.

Oh, did that beer that was left in the car taste good after a steep climb!

On the way back, we were shocked to find that a VW bus had been left in the middle of the road, so we managed to roll it off enough so we could pass. Some people think they are the only ones around.

Spent another night at Meadow Lake. Saturday we were off again via jeep road to White Rock Creek. Met a Basque sheepherder who told us about an old trail over the mountain, so headed up, found some blazes on a few trees and some "ducks," but then we were on our own. Climbed over the ridge, picking our way and ended down in Paradise Valley where another uphill climb brought us to Paradise Lake via a nice trail. What a spot, a beautiful little alpine lake nestled in the granite. Spent the night there and even had fresh fish for breakfast. Yumm.

Intended to go on to Warren Lake, but after scouting around, found that it was about 1,000 feet below a sheer cliff that looked very much like Yosemite's Glacier Point. The view was spectacular and in the distance was Carpenter Valley and way off, Mt. Rose in Nevada. We felt like we were on top of the world.

Charlie and the girls took off on the ridge, while us oldsters decided to go around Paradise Lake and head up from the lower slopes.

Ended up at the same point high above White Rock Lake, but they had seen Independence Lake while we struggled up a steep ravine. Thank goodness our legs didn't give out.

Ate lunch on the rocks at 8,000 feet elevation, then Charlie took off on the ridge to get the car, while we headed down the most beautiful little alpine scene. The patch of snow above kept the stream flowing over the rocks and the wild flowers were profuse, pink and yellow mimulus, heather, pentstemon in various colors, columbine, shooting stars, owl clover, two shades of paint brush and green green grasses. Steep but so pretty and refreshing.

Called Charlie on the two-way radio to see if he had found the car, and he surprised us by being at the dam to pick us up. What a welcome site. Clouds were cooling off the scene, so loaded the car, headed for Meadow Lake again and met the Lomax's there. After breaking camp, came back to civilization, traffic, etc., for showers and dinner here.

Packed a lunch Monday, drove up Alder Creek and expected to go into Carpenter Valley and perhaps hike to Warren Lake to see it from the lower end, but found the road blocked by a gate with several padlocks, so ate along a little stream reminding our trip and planning others. A great way to see the high Sierra beauty spots.

Mighty nice to be back in soft warm beds though and all the modern conveniences.

Several new things have been noted around the area; Ron Smith of Donner Lake has opened the new American gas station at the east end of Donner State Park; Builders Service Center has installed an attractive fence along the highway; installation of the sewer lines are progressing near the park, necessitating short delays while trucks jockey around. Have you ever seen such fast-moving back-hoes in action? Wow. Truckee's radio station KTRT is on the air again, an indication of fall with blustery winds and rain showers; back-to-school clothes featured in the stores; golly is the summer season really going so fast?

Surely want to thank Mrs. Francovich of Tahoe City and Mr. Reymann of Crystal Bay, Nevada for the two interesting recipes for Elderberry wine. One made with the flowers and the other with the berries. Thanks so much, folks.

Mr. Reymann reminded me that a permit is required to make a family batch of up to 200 gallons of wine and that the form 1541 can be obtained free of charge from the Assistant District Commissioner, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Custom House Building, 555 Battery Street, San Francisco, Calif.

We wish him a safe and interesting journey on his long hike from Lake Tahoe to Mount Whitney. Will be interested in his experiences. Maxine sends her version from the "Encyclopedia of Cookery" which she uses at "Jac's Left Bank" near Fanny Bridge.

It's Fair time again, and if anyone from the area would like to help out in the booths at either the Nevada County Fair or Cal Expo for Nevada County, please contact Pat Tonini. She and I will be down at Grass Valley again this year on Friday to hand out brochures and give information about our eastern part of Nevada County. Take the kids down, it's a great spot with lots of action. The State Fair starts on the 26th in Sacramento; help out please.

Terry Marquette and his wife were visiting Marilyn and Jack recently. They had just returned from back-packing up in Yellowstone Park and have now settled in Placerville where they will be teaching in separate high schools. The young Marquettes managed the Donner Shore Resort for his folks while they vacationed in Mexico. Jack caught some tremendous sail fish, that were too big to show at his bait shop.

Jack says the fish and game men have been checking our supposedly numerous plants of fish throughout the season that for some reason have not produced many catchables. Limited to only five fish per day, we should be getting some nice size plants. What happened? And where are the kokonee?

Congratulations Dawn Whitney and the Sierra Tinker Belles for the successful flower show you had. We did think of you when up at Paradise Lake and even arranged a few wildflowers in a rusty tin can to grace our table rock. Sorry to have missed it this year.

Next weekend, the historical society will be attempting to locate graves at the Summit City Cemetery and outline them with rocks. If you'd like to help, come up and bring that ole' fishing pole plus a rake or hoe. The water has gone down, so those big fish should be biting.

The Donner Lake Waterski Club Slalom Only meet was a big success with over 60 entrants competing for attractive trophies. The start was delayed for three hours, waiting for the thick fog to clear, but when it did the day was beautiful and the snowy backdrop spectacular.

The members will have a meeting at 6 p.m. at the red house at Donner Beach next Saturday and everyone interested in joining the clubs are invited to attend. New officers will be elected at that time.

The Corum Invitational sailing regatta over the rainy weekend was also well attended; 16 boats participated in the fun activities.

The highlight was during the cocktail and dinner hours when Butch Corum, and his friends played some great music for dancing.

Butch on the drums; Mike Rhodes, guitar; Dennis Farias trumpet; Charlie Gunn, saxophone; Graig Skewis, organ; they were a picture as they grouped at the end of the dock.

On Swanson's pier next door was the bar, all set up in Morbey's fishing boat to complete the scene.

After dinner the sailing gang collected inside Corum's huge A-frame cabin where Ed presented trophies to all who entered in the days races.

A surprise plaque was presented to yours truly for being the first secretary-treasurer for the first three years of the organization. Thanks so much. It was a pleasure.

Reiss Funeral

Private funeral services for Hans Reiss, 83, a long-time resident of Brockway and well-known guide for tours of that region, were held in San Francisco. Reiss died in a bay area rest home on Aug. 3 following an extended illness. He suffered a stroke in 1967 from which he never fully recovered. He had been in ill health since 1965.

A native of the Black Forest of Germany, Reiss came to the United States in 1921 and 20 years later, after conducting art schools in the east, came to Brockway where for many years he was associated with the Comstock family. He was a picturesque figure and belied his age as he was active in his art work and his hiking tours of the region.

As a fitting memorial, a Hans Reiss fund has been started to purchase books for the Tahoe-Truckee High School library and those wishing to contribute are asked to contact Roy Baker, school librarian.

The annual Thieves' Market of the Tahoe Squaws, scheduled to be held at the Tahoe Lake School in Tahoe City this Friday and Saturday, August 23rd and 24th, is a major undertaking and one that is worthwhile for the Squaws as a fund raising project as well as buyers who are interested in unusual objects and unusual bargains. The hours of sale on Friday are from 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. and on Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., according to chairman Pat Gregor and co-chairman Pat Leeder.

This event is a great opportunity for the community to join with the Squaws in a worthy effort to raise funds for many scholarship and education projects. In the last two years the Squaws have contributed $4,500.00 to the libraries of the three elementary schools of the Tahoe Truckee Unified School District. The group has also given many scholarships to graduating seniors of Tahoe Truckee High School. 1966 winners of Squaw scholarships were Marilyn Goss of Kings Beach and Darrel Cernusak of Tahoe Vista who was also granted a continuing scholarship in 1967 and who is on the Dean's List at the University of California at Davis; the 1967 scholarship winner was Karel Sauby of Truckee who also attends UC-Davis; 1968 winners of Squaw scholarships are Allison Spillner of Truckee and Richard Johnson of Kings Beach, who plan on attending UC-Davis and Sierra College, respectively.

There will be a great variety of articles on sale at the Market, ranging from baby bottle sterilizers to clothing to unusual objects d'art.

A group of hardy golfers battled all the elements—wind, rain, Ramos fizzes and breakfast—as they played out a scotch foursome tournament on Sunday at the Tahoe City Golf Course. Chairman Doug Farrar reports that a record crowd of golfers of club participated in the all-day event which was won by Marilyn Fugazi and Pete Perata. Marilyn also paired with Jack Franklin to take second place while Bob Fugazi and Bern Franklin were third place winners.

Much of the day's success was due to breakfast cooks Steve Korich, Dan Davis and Al Shoopman who were rewarded by the club with gifts of golf shirts.

Former Agate Bay residents Fritz and Sue Kaupp, who now reside in Chico, have proudly announced the birth of their third daughter, Wendy Blair, who checked in with a birth-weight of eleven pounds, six ounces and a length of twenty one inches. Wendy was welcomed home recently by sisters Troy and Kim.

Houseguests of Bob and Marilyn Fugazi at their Agate Bay home last week were Dr. and Mrs. Rod McArthur and daughter Susie of Carmel. Lynann Fugazi is visiting this week with the McArthur's at their home in the seaside town.

Visiting in Tahoe City for several days last week was Mrs. Edith Bickford Weatherhead of Sacramento. She was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Sadie Bickford Morrow, at the latter's Tahoe City residence.

Mrs. Weatherhead, now a sprightly 84-year-old widow, wintered here with her husband Ira D. at the old Bickford home in the '51-'52 season. While here that winter, they averted what could have been a great tragedy for Tahoe City by sounding the alarm and getting help for putting out a fire in the community center building. At the time, the building was sometimes used as an overnight retreat by snow bunnies who were skiing Granlibakken and trying out other winter sports. One Sunday, Mrs. Weatherhead spotted a fire that had started on the upper floor of the community building where wet clothing and sleeping bags had been left to dry out near a fuel oil heater. Only the quick action of Mrs. Weatherhead and her husband stopped the fire before it could cause great damage.

Enjoying a seaside vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Edwards and two sons of Dollar Point.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Spitsen at their Tahoe City home are Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Spitsen and children of Hillmar.

It was a very gala celebration as a group of eighteen friends gathered to pay tribute to Mrs. John Brucklacher of Pineland on the occasion of her seventieth birthday. The dinner party was held on August 9 at the North Shore Club.

Carson and Margaret Birmingham were hosts to a group of friends at a "steak and spirits" party held at their Comstock Acres home last Saturday.

A recent Tahoe visitor was Mrs. Eleanor Swanson of Reno. Mrs. Swanson, the widow of the late Charles Swanson of Tahoe City and better known as "Swanee," was the guest of Mrs. Stella Watson at the Watson home in the Highlands and enjoyed visiting many friends in the area.

Mrs. Swanson lived here for many years and was an early-day correspondent for the United Press as well as columnist for the Sierra Sun.

Get-well-quick wishes to Richard Gould of Tahoe City who is hospitalized at St. Mary's Hospital in Reno.

Golf Champion Marilyn Fugazi had a three-way reason for celebration last Sunday, it was not only her birthday but she paired with two partners, Pete Perata and Jack Franklin, to take first and second places in the fizz scotch foursome play of the Tahoe City Golf Club.

Vacationing in San Diego last week were Neil and Helen Gates and children Jon and Kimberley of the Highlands.

Bowl Incline of Incline Village has just received the sanction for the 1970 Nevada State Women's Bowling Association championship tournament.

The championship play is a great honor for the local bowling alley and will be held in the spring, according to the local chapter president, Mary Ann Dunham of Kings Beach and vice-president Juanita Hicks of Tahoe City.

Airman First Class Greg Gates, presently based at Travis Air Force Base near Vacaville, started a leave on Tuesday of this week and is spending part of his time visiting with his family in the Highlands. Greg also plans on visiting friends and relatives in Santa Cruz and San Francisco before reporting to his port of call in early September.

Best wishes to Steve and Gladys Landa of Lake Terrance who celebrated their wedding anniversary on August 17.

The August 14 birthday of Mrs. Dave Stollery of Dollar Point was celebrated in great style when friends from the Tahoe City Women's Club joined together for a celebration luncheon at the Crystal Bay Club. Highlight of the occasion was a Paul Adamco creation.

Linda Lou Taylor Wed To Samuel J. Sims

The Outdoor Chapel of the St. Nicholas Episcopal Church was the setting on Sunday afternoon for the lovely wedding ceremony which united in marriage Linda Lou Taylor of Tahoe City and Samuel J. Sims of Loyalton. Performing the ceremony was Father Jonathan Booth.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor of Chico and former Tahoe residents, is a graduate of Tahoe-Truckee High School and attending Sierra College and Chico State College. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zane Sims of Loyalton and has also attended Sierra and Chico State Colleges.

The new Mrs. Sims, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a traditional satin bridal gown, long-sleeved and fitted at the waist in front and trained at the back and with embellished flowers on the skirt. Her coronet cap of lace was completed with a short net veil and she carried white carnations with a white orchid. Her matron of honor was Lisa Davis Waddell of Kings Beach while bridesmaids were Pat Patterson of Tahoe City and Friend Gloria of Chico, who were all gowned alike in floor length dresses of powder blue linen with empire waists. They carried bouquets of white daisies and pink roses.

Completing the wedding party were Lauren Fleming of Sierraville who acted as best man and Gary Taylor, brother of the bride, and Ed King of South Tahoe who acted as ushers. The wedding reception was held immediately following the ceremony at Camp Noel Porter with the highlight being the beautiful wedding cake made by the father of the bride. Attending the guest book was Miss Lisa Taylor, sister of the bride.

After a short wedding trip to San Francisco, the just-weds will make their first home in Sierraville. They plan on moving later to Sacramento where the groom will continue his education at Sacramento State College.

Four State Highway Contracts Awarded

SACRAMENTO — Four contracts for construction or renovation of state highway facilities have been approved in Sacramento by the Department of Public Works.

In Nevada County a contract for $77,021 was awarded to A. Teichert & son, Inc. of Sacramento for constructing a detour, and reconstructing the concrete deck of the Hinton Road Undercrossing on Interstate 80, about 7 miles east of Truckee. In El Dorado and Placer counties a contract for $69,643 was awarded to the same contractor for placing an epoxy seal coat and asphalt concrete surfacing to protect the decks of the Route 50 Freeway bridge across Snow Road, about five miles east of Placerville and the Interstate 80 Freeway bridges at Blue Canyon Undercrossing and the Drum Forebay and Baxter overcrossings.

New Ideas For Homes At Cal-Expo

SACRAMENTO — "Concept House," now on display at the California Exposition, is the newest innovation for home and cabin builders who like to fashion their own home.

"Concept House" begins with a basic unit of 400 square feet of home and can be adjusted to fit any taste or fancy.

The basic unit of handsome, durable California redwood plywood is pre-fabricated and can be trucked to locations and set in place by hand or by crane.

One such home is on display at Cal Expo behind Exposition Center Buildings six and seven. The module utilizes two of the basic 400 square foot units placed side by side to form a living room, kitchen and dining area, a bedroom, and a bathroom with a tub. The cost of the modules, small or large, comes to ten dollars per square foot.

This includes architectural services, heating units, air-conditioning, wall-to-wall indoor-outdoor carpet, wiring for electricity above the foundation, a stove, plumbing, decks, stairs, trellis, exterior siding of California redwood plywood pre-treated to prevent leakage and mildew, a stove, desks, and more.

The redwood interior paneling looks rustic and inviting, yet is treated with a penetrating clear sealer to enhance the beauty and cut maintenance.

The basic units of 400 square feet can be combined to make a home of any size or shape, single or multi-storied. They also can be utilized as apartment houses, motel units or mountain cabins.

Concept Structures Company designed and builds the units; Lamont Langworthy is the architect.

Concept House is directed towards obtaining quality control with maximum flexibility at the lowest cost. Variations and flexibility in roof pitch, room arrangement, interior and exterior designs permit owners to put an indelible stamp of individuality on their new "Concept Homes."

The models are built in a mobile home factory, and trucked to the proposed site for installation. Construction time is about one month in the factory and three days to deliver the finished unit. The site must have a foundation with wiring and plumbing set to match the wiring and plumbing in the module. In the case of mountain cabins or rough terrain, the structure can rest on a foundation which allows for 20 feet of overhang on either side.

The "Concept House" will be on display through Sept. 10 at Cal Expo. The gates are open Wednesday through Friday from 4 p.m. until 11 p.m., and weekends from noon until 11 p.m.

World's Largest Camper Enroute To Alaska

CHICAGO — Although the temperature was in the mid-90's, Mrs. Andrew J. Bootz was pretty proud of the "fully automatic gas furnace with six registers" in their new custom-built camper which, she said, is "probably the largest in the world."

They'll need the furnace, Mrs. Bootz said, when they reach the destination of their vacation trip — Circle, Alaska.

And they need the "world's largest" camper to accommodate their family — herself and husband, their 11 children and a cousin.

The camper, built on a two-ton truck chassis, "is completely self sufficient," Mrs. Bootz said. In addition to the furnace, the comforts of home include a 6-cubic foot refrigerator, a 10-gallon water heater, lights and a 4-burner kitchen range with broiler and oven — all operated on LP gas.

There is a shower and bath and 15 fold-away beds.

"This way we are all under one roof," Mrs. Bootz said. "This will be a relaxing vacation."

The family recently left their permanent home in suburban Mount Prospect, on the 15,000 mile trip to Circle and return, via Winnipeg, Calgary, Dawson Creek where they take the Alcan Highway to Alaska.

They will more than double the population of Circle, a community of 11 persons 40 miles from the Arctic circle and the northernmost town reached by any highway in North America. "We'll be back in about six weeks," Mrs. Bootz said. "It's going to be a tremendous trip."

Headaches - Questions and Answers

CMA Gives Health Tips

SAN FRANCISCO — California Medical Association, 693 Sutter St., answers common questions concerning headaches. The following questions and answers probe the causes, types and methods of treatment.

Q. What causes headache?

A. There are many causes — diseases of the sinuses, teeth, eyes, infection, head injury, and others. The pain itself is usually in the blood vessels or the muscles of the head. The brain itself is insensitive to pain, though the membranes surrounding it may produce pain if injured.

Q. What is "tension headache?"

A. This is a phrase coined by advertising writers, based on fact. Tension in the muscles of the neck, face, and jaw may produce pain — and many persons tend to tense these muscles when under stress. Q. What is the treatment of tension headache?

A. This is easier to say than to do. Probably the best thing to do is to lie down and relax, but often this is not possible. Ordinary aspirin is as effective as any other drug available without prescription.

Q. What is a migraine headache?

A. A form of headache believed to be related to a functional disturbance of the circulation within the cranium, probably involving dilation or constriction of the cranial arteries. It often affects only one side of the head at a time, and may be accompanied by, or preceded by, nausea, vomiting, blind spots in the field of vision, or flashes of light. There is a strong tendency for migraine headache to run in families, and we commonly find that if a patient had migraine, one of his parents does also.

Q. What is the treatment for migraine?

A. Aspirin, with or without caffeine citrate, or codeine may relieve mild attacks. Severe attacks usually require ergot derivatives, which should be taken as soon after the onset of symptoms as possible. The drugs require careful evaluation by the doctor, including regular visits to his office for checkups and perhaps X-rays. Close cooperation between patient and doctor can usually bring about good control, if not complete relief, of the attacks.

Q. What is sinus headache?

A. A result of inflammation and swelling in the membranes of the nose. Shrinking the swelling with nose drops or spray or decongestant pills usually brings relief. Persistent nasal infection, with or without headache, requires medical attention.

"everyday" headache?

A. If possible, lie down and relax. This takes the tension off the neck muscles. Gentle massage or mild heat may help the muscles in the back of the neck. For the "vascular" headache, involving disturbance of the cranial blood vessels, rest is also a help. Take a dose of any aspirin-containing pain medication.

Q. Which pain medicine is best?

A. They are all much the same. Two tablets of plain aspirin is the usual adult dose. Some patients find that the aspirin irritates the stomach, and they tolerate buffered aspirin better: there is no other advantage to it. Some trade-name pain tablets are a mixture of aspirin, phenacetin, and caffeine. Phenacetin and caffeine seem to increase the effectiveness of aspirin. However, it has been found that phenacetin in large doses can damage the kidneys, and some trade-name pain tablets no longer contain it.

A patient who has headaches that are not relieved by one of these remedies should seek the advice of a doctor, rather than experimenting with a variety of medicines.

Nevada Congressman Attacks U.S. Foreign Aid

Congressman Walter S. Baring said his Democratic opponent must be wearing "rose colored glasses if he can't see the damage Foreign Aid has done not only to this country but to the pocketbook of the American taxpayer."

Baring, seeking a ninth term in the House of Representatives, responding to a statement by Richard Ham that he, Baring, opposed building bridges to Communist countries commented:

"You bet I am against Foreign Aid and the building of bridges with Communist countries. How does Mr. Ham propose to explain to the mothers and fathers who have lost sons in Vietnam why he favors building bridges to Communist States ... the same Communist States that are shipping military arms and ammunition to the Viet Cong to kill American boys."

"And yet the government has the nerve to ask the American taxpayer for a 10 per cent surcharge tax increase."

Slow Drivers Said Dangerous

PLACERVILLE — "Slow drivers who are impeding traffic are not only a menace but are inviting a citation, Capt. W. T. Kramer, Placerville Area commander of the California Highway Patrol, warns.

The vehicle code requires any vehicle moving slower than the normal flow of traffic to be driven in the right lane of the roadway, or as far to the right as is practicable.

"On freeways or other multi-lane highways, this means you must keep pace with the flow of traffic in the lane you are using or move into the lane to your right," Capt. Kramer said. "But even when you are in the far right-hand lane, you must not drive so slowly that you impede the cars behind you."

On a two-lane highway where passing is unsafe because of opposing traffic or limited vision, a slow moving vehicle that is followed by five or more vehicles must pull to the side of the road whenever sufficient area for a safe turnout exists and allow the following vehicles to pass.

"Of course, there are times when a slow speed is necessary for safe driving, but drivers should remember that generally they must not drive so slowly as to be a danger on the road, or to interfere with the normal or reasonable movement of traffic."

"If a long line of cars has formed behind you on a two-way tow-lane road, or if cars are changing lanes to pass you on the right on a freeway, you're in trouble," Kramer concluded.

SIERRA
FIELD AND STREAM

BY THE FRIENDLY OLD GAME WARDEN

Fishing is in the doldrums in most places and dove season is nearly three weeks away. For a change of pace, why not give the bullfrog a try? The few dedicated people who pursue this croaking appetite with legs swear that there's nothing like it. These few steal quietly out at night with gig and lantern. They come home at all hours, dripping wet, and, we are told, sometimes smelling of mud and strong drink.

Very little in way of equipment is needed. Just a hand-light, gig, barley sack, and a good stretch of marsh. The technique is about as follows: with waders or just overalls and an old pair of tennis shoes you wade out in the marsh until you are about chest deep and you shine your light along the edges of the tule growth or shoreline. When you spot a pair of diamond-brilliant, red eyes, you stealthily creep up on the victim and take careful aim with your gig.

If your aim is good you may have impaled a wriggling 2 pound frog.

Then, while delicately balancing gig, gunny sack and light, you remove the frog from the gig and place him in the sack. Then you go looking for another pair of eyes.

This sport is full of thrills. Like stepping into a deep hole with water over your head or maybe dropping your sack full of frogs in the water and losing the entire catch.

Or dropping your light into chest deep water or even down the leg of your waders.

Also, once, there was a case of mistaken identity when a coot was gigged instead of a frog. You sure get scratched up taking a lively mud hen off the gig.

Our truly dedicated frogger is convinced that the really big frogs never come out until after 1 a.m. in the morning. This seems generally true, but there are exceptions. On occasion you will see an old grandpa-type bull frog sitting at the edge of a deep pond with only his eyes above water, at mid-day.

At times like this they are setups for the other accepted method of frogging. This consists of dangling a piece of red flannel, on a fish hook, within 3 or 4 inches of the frog's mouth.

He will grab it every time. A plain bamboo pole, 9 to 10 feet long, and about 6 feet of fish line are just right for this hook-and-line technique. This is the best way if you can find your frogs out during daylight hours. To prepare frogs for the table, skin out and remove the rear legs. Then pan fry the legs or use any of the recipes available. The flavor is somewhere between that of chicken and fish.

Also be sure to have a fishing license and not over 15 frogs in your possession. The exception is Humboldt County, where you are allowed only 10 frogs. According to regulations a frog is a fish

Field Notes:
Bighorn sheep — one 5-year old ram, one yearling ram, one adult ewe and one ewe lamb have been trapped from the Hart Mountain Refuge in southern Oregon and transplanted in the Sheldon Antelope Refuge enclosure in northern Nevada according to Frank W. Groves, Director Nevada Fish and Game Commission. The four California Bighorn were donated to Nevada through the courtesy of the Oregon State Game Commission.

There are five Bighorn remaining in the Hart Mountain enclosure which will be trapped and transported to the Sheldon enclosure sometime in October or November.

Picnickers--Look Out For Food Poisoning

Planning a picnic this weekend?

If you're the typical picnicker, you'll probably load your food basket with deviled eggs, potato salad, ham or chicken salad sandwiches, creamed or scalloped dishes, and cream-filled desserts.

If you do take a food basket like that to a picnic, you're flirting with food poisoning.

The most common cause of food poisoning is staphylococcal bacteria. The staph germs are likely to be found in starchy foods and sweets, such as potatoes, cream pies, and custards.

Salmonella, another bacteria that can cause food poisoning, may be present in poultry, eggs, meat potato salads, and other foods when they are not properly refrigerated.

Staph poisoning can hit in as short a time as two hours, and salmonella poisoning develops between seven and seventy-two hours.

Although this type of food poisoning is seldom fatal, it can cause an acute illness of short duration.

Its symptoms include abdominal pain, chills, fever, frequent vomiting, diarrhea, and prostration.

Wherever you suspect food poisoning, get the victim to expel as much of the food as possible from his stomach immediately. To make him vomit, stick your finger down his throat, or use an emetic (such as mustard in lukewarm water.)

Call a physician.

To guard against food poisoning, follow this advice:

Be sure that all foods that need refrigeration are kept cold until eaten. These include puddings, custard fillings, cream desserts, fish in all forms, scrambled or deviled eggs, potato salads and other salads mixed with mayonnaise — to name only a few.

The best way to keep picnic food is to use an insulated box with a tight-fitting cover. Use a lot of ice.

Never, Never prepare, transport, or store beverages or foods in galvanized containers! Acid action on zinc results in an end product that frequently causes gastro-intestinal upsets of varying severity.

Wrap refrigerated sandwiches snugly in waxed paper or aluminum foil and pack them into the chilled, insulated box immediately before leaving home. The contents will remain cool a few hours.

Bizz Urges Johnson Release $91 Million For School Aid

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson, of the Second, mountain-valley counties, District has urged President Lyndon B. Johnson and his budget director Charles J. Zwick to release $91 million appropriated by Congress for assistance to school districts affected by heavy federal employment.

"Local school districts have proceeded on the faith the federal government will meet its fiscal 1968 obligations," Congressman Johnson declared in a wire to both officials.

Congressman Johnson said he hoped the Bureau of the Budget would release these funds in time to make them available to local school districts in the immediate future.

The $91 million was contained in a supplemental appropriations bill for fiscal 1968 expenditures.

Barber Shop Quartets Highlight At Cal Expo

SACRAMENTO—The one type of music that has refused to be rocked by "Rock-n-Roll"—good old-fashioned Barber Shop Quartet singing—will fill the air for more than seven hours at The California Exposition Sept. 7.

The "Barber Shop Harmony Day" program, to be staged as part of the 16-day Cal Expo State Fair, will feature quartets from throughout Northern California and Fresno.

The Sacramento Capitolaire Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will host the day-long program beginning at 3 p.m.

The Sweet Adelines, Inc., also from throughout the northern area will take part, including the Chapter from Salinas.

Cal Expo will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. during its State Fair period of Aug. 26—Sept. 10.

Multi-Purpose Auto Racing Track Set For Construction

ONTARIO — Preliminary on-site work, in preparation for formal ground breaking next month is underway at the 700-acre location of the new Ontario Motor Speedway, a $25.5 million multi-purpose auto racing facility due for completion in early 1970.

According to Robert Johnson, project manager for Stolte

Inc., which will build the Speedway, preliminary work has been in progress since last month, when financing for construction and land purchase was completed through tax exempt mortgage revenue bonds.

"We've been ready to move in our heavy equipment for some time now," Johnson said. "However, since most of the land is now covered with premium grape vineyards that are nearly ready for harvest, we will hold off any earth moving for a few more weeks.

"It would be a shame to ruin such a fine harvest," Johnson added, "especially since we can easily work around it by concentrating on other preliminary projects such as additional surveying and digging wells. This way we can preserve the investment of the grape growers without throwing our schedule behind."

Actual ground breaking, which will include a formal ceremony involving City of Ontario and San Bernardino County dignitaries as well as Ontario Motor Speedway Inc. officials, as prominent members of the racing fraternity, is scheduled to take place next month, tentatively on Sept. 24, depending at this time on the harvest.

The Speedway will be located in Ontario, just north of the San Bernardino Freeway and approximately 25 miles east of Los Angeles. It has been designed as the first, most unique plant ever built for auto racing and will include a 2.5 mile oval track similar to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway plus a 3.5-mile road course and a drag strip.

It is scheduled to begin operations with a 500-mile Classic for Championship (Indianapolis) cars in 1970.

Surtax Bill Creates Changes

The Federal Tax Deposit system for employers has been changed with the signing of the Surtax Bill. The change mainly concerns the small employer.

Every employer who is not subject to monthly or semi-monthly Federal Tax Deposits but must pay more than $100 for withheld income and Social Security taxes during a calendar quarter must now pay these taxes through the Federal Tax Deposit system on or before the last day of the month following the close of the quarter.

The Internal Revenue Service announced that this new requirement will be effective for employers who file second quarter returns by July 31, 1968.

The Internal Revenue Service gave these examples:

An employer withholds during a calendar quarter $50 the first month, $120 the second month, and $60 the third month. He would be required to make a monthly deposit of $120 for the second month.

An additional deposit of the balance, $110, would be required on or before the last day of the month following the close of the quarter.

An employer withholds $50 during each month of the quarter. He would not be required to make a deposit for the first and second month.

However, he would be required to make deposit of $150 for the accumulation of the three months withholding on or before the last day of the month following the end of the quarter.

An employer makes semi-monthly deposits and the underpayment for the last month of a calendar quarter exceeds $100. A deposit of the underpayment must be made on or before the last day of the month following the close of the quarter.

Previously the undeposited taxes due at filing time were paid to the Internal Revenue Service with the return. Accumulated amounts of $100 or less may still be paid with the return.

Oil Level Can Be Checked—At Right Time

It's a mistake to check the oil level in your car while the engine is running. Instead, let the engine stand idle for a few minutes after operating and before making the oil check. And be sure the auto is on level ground.

So advises George Wilson, vice president of one of the nation's largest vehicle leasing firms, C.I.T. Service Leasing Corp.

He explains: "An operating automotive engine will have a considerable quantity of oil—as much as a quart—in the cylinders, cam pockets and other parts. Unless this oil is allowed to drain into the crankcase before a reading is taken the level will read lower than it actually is."

Economize On Cosmetics To Aid Household Budget

Any woman who efficiently plans a household budget can also practice economy with her cosmetics!

First rule is to read directions. If the directions for a make-up foundation say, "use sparingly," do just that. The same holds true for shampoo. Usually, a painful of shampoo will effectively cleanse the hair and scalp; using more may look lovely frothing over the edge of the lavatory but will serve no practical purpose at all.

Make your skin fresher go further by sprinkling it only on a water-moistened cotton pad. This procedure was recently tested by a beauty consultant who reported her favorite skin fresher lasted 3 times longer than it did when sprinkled directly on a dry cotton pad.

Another of her experiments proved that nail polish will remain liquid for months if kept in the refrigerator. This is a particular boon during hot summer weather.

Women seem to be irredeemable hoarders when it comes to face creams and lotions. They will stock up on any product that appeals to them through direct advertising or even as they browse around the cosmetic counters of their favorite department stores.

The fact is, basically your skin needs only three essentials: a tropical moist oil for nourishing and protecting the skin by day, a rich vitalizing night cream for concentrated nourishment and massage at night, and a dissolving-type cleansing milk that will lift ordinary impurities and stale make-up right off the skin surface.

Lipstick will last twice as long if you take care to keep it symmetrical as you stroke your lip brush over it. Once you've worn deep grooves into the side of a lipstick it will inevitably break off.

Boy Proves Rugged Hiker

Kevin Wines, an 11-year-old bundle of energy, completed a 50 mile hike Sunday evening, 17 1/2 hours after he began the trek to earn a merit badge.

Kevin was one of 12 Boy Scouts from Zephyr Cove Troop 169 who left Round Hill at 4:20 a.m. Sunday for the hike which had to be completed in 20 hours or less.

Of those who started, only Kevin finished the 50 mile hike over Spooner Summit to Grass Valley and Genoa and around to Gardnerville.

The youth, youngest member of the Boy Scout group, wore out several adults who took turns keeping up with him. Four cars followed the hiker, who walked the last 20 miles alone, and at one time he was escorted by a policeman.

Kevin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Wines of State-line. His scoutmaster is Woody Riggins.

Brigman Sweeps In El Toro Race

San Jose sailor, Mark Brigman, took first place and won the perpetual trophy. He was followed in second place by Don Hebard, San Jose. A three-way tie for third was shared by Chuck Hinkley, Sam Small, and Jim Maloney, all of the San Jose Sailing Club.

El Toro sailors fought gusty winds and cold weather in Sunday's seventh annual Highest High Sierra El Toro Regatta at Tahoe Keys.

In the Intermediate Division, (14-18 yrs.), Bruce McDewitt shared first with Bob Eldridge. Both are from Lake Merritt Sailing Club. Third went to Bob Jacobsen of Tomales Bay.

Local entrants were Laurie and Wink Ames. Of the 15 senior entries, Laurie placed 10th and Wink 11th.

Candidate To Open Headquarters Here

"I do not believe the district is being properly represented by Sen. Teale. It is essential that the largest senatorial district in the state have an active role in the senate."

So said Walter E. Regan, 41-year-old Republican, who is ready to establish campaign headquarters this week in South Lake Tahoe.

Regan has visited seven counties in the Third Senatorial District so far—there are five to go.

He recently appointed John L. Martin, 45, as his campaign chairman. Gil Roberts of South Tahoe is co-chairman.

Regan believes "it is essential that Highway 50 be improved to four lanes to provide access to the South Lake Tahoe area, since the basic industry here is recreation."

"At this point I'm really more concerned with the completion of the highway expansion, rather than any tunnel proposals—but I don't want to rule out the tunnel wither," he said.

"With many of the problems existing today in the district, it is important that closer contact with the state administration be in effect. We consider it a priority in the Third Senatorial District," he added.

Regan was born in Butte, Mont., later moving to Los Angeles where he attended Woodbury College, earning a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1950.

His highest level of political experience has been chairman of the Stanislaus County Republican Central Committee.

Regan also says he is in favor of an 18-year-old vote. "The young people today are much more versed and aware of the political structures than they were a generation ago. It's time there was a recognition of reality," he said.

Regan will open his campaign in the area officially Aug. 22, with a reception and organizational meeting at the home of Barney and Mary Lou Mossbacher, Bellvue Drive, South Tahoe. Campaign committees will meet at their invitation.

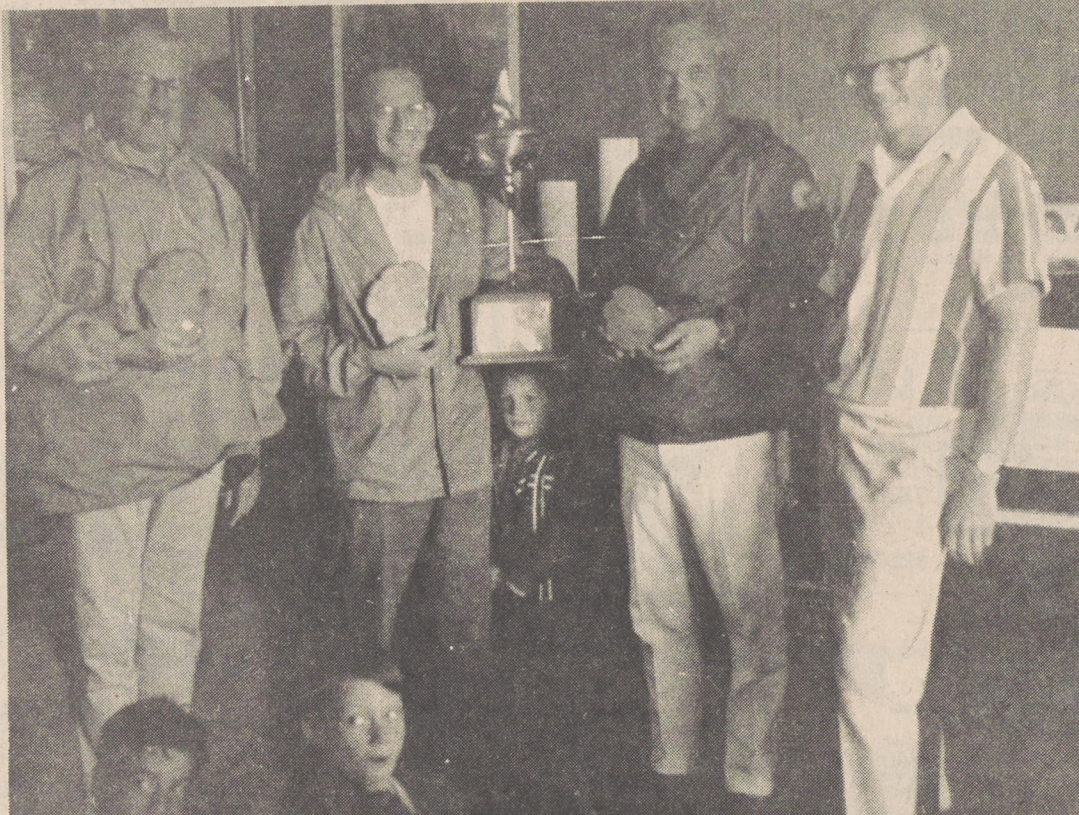

Banker Is Named To TPC Board

O. E. Helgeson, manager of the South Lake Tahoe branch, Bank of America, has been appointed to the Board of Trustees of Tahoe Paradise College.

Upon receiving word of his appointment, Helgeson expressed his pleasure at being named to the college board.

"We know this is the age of trained man," Helgeson said. "As our society becomes more complex, higher premiums are paid for education and training. We are experiencing a continuing contradiction between a labor shortage in the skilled and highly trained positions and a hard core of unemployed who must be retained or become economic burdens on our community," he added.

Helgeson also noted that in 1967 the U. S. Office of Education predicted a 40 per cent jump in college enrollment in the coming decade. "This rate of growth is four times as fast as our population growth," he pointed out and added that from this it is obvious that college education is "in."

Milligan said the purchase of Alamo Airways Inc. for $1,350,000 by Hughes Tool Co. includes "all permits, franchises and licenses."

Archers Get Their Chance As Season Opens Saturday

California's archery bear and late archery deer hunting seasons opens Saturday, according to the Department of Fish and Game.

Both seasons continue through Sunday, Sept. 15.

Archery deer limits are the same as those for the rifle seasons - one buck forked horn or better in the general season area; two bucks forked horn or better in the northwest area; and one buck three points or better in the northeast area.

The limit on bears is two per person, provided that no person may take more than two bears whether taken by firearms or bow and arrow. Southern California is closed to bear hunting this season. Hunters should check the hunting regulations for the boundaries.

Deer hunters are required to have a valid 1968-69 hunting license ($4) and deer tags ($2); bear hunters need a hunting license and bear tags ($1).

District Eyes Fair Funds

By Sen. Stephen Teale
Third District

A total of $1,364,300 has been recommended or is under consideration for expenditure under the five-year capital outlay program for 11 fairs in the Third Senatorial District.

The State Public Works Board will meet Aug. 26 to act on the capital outlay recommendations for the fiscal years 1968-1971. Projects listed as under consideration will not have final recommendations made until the 1971-73 fiscal year as funds become available.

The following funding recommendations have been made or are under consideration for Third District fairs:

Nevada County District Fair, Grass Valley — recommended — $36,800 and under consideration, $90,000.

Calaveras County Fair, Angels Camp — recommended — $140,000; under consideration, $69,500.

El Dorado County Fair, Placerville — recommended — $92,500; under consideration, $17,000.

Placer County Fair, Roseville — recommended — $82,000; under consideration, $55,000.

Last month Gov. Ronald Reagan signed my Senate Bill 731. This adds to the welfare and Institutions Code the category of those who may be subject to involuntary commitment to state hospitals persons "who are gravely disabled and in need of supervision, treatment, care or restraint."

A gravely disabled person is defined as one who, as a result of mental illness, is unable to provide for his personal needs for food, clothing or shelter.

This will correct the situation in which persons who have been in mental hospitals are returned to communities and families which are unable to provide proper care for them.

This measure would allow persons in these circumstances to be involuntarily committed to a state hospital for their care.

This become effective immediately but will remain in force only until the new Lanterman-Petris-Short Act relating to involuntary care of gravely disabled persons becomes effective.

Road Deaths Down In '67

In 1962 highway deaths topped the 40,000 mark. Three years later the figure was 48,500 and in 1966 America's highways were stained with the blood of 52,500 persons.

The skyrocketing figures paused—even dropped a bit in 1967. The year-end toll stood at 52,200, according to the highway accident booklet released annually by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Tragedy did not stop with the deaths, but added 3,840,000 persons to the 1962 injured list. 4,400,000 were injured in 1966 and 4,200,000 in 1967—a reduction of some 200,000.

"The record of 1967 gives us the first appreciable improvement in this respect that has taken place in more than a decade," according to a Travelers spokesman.

"The satisfaction this gives must be qualified, however, for it will require many more years of consistent betterment before we can claim any genuine progress toward the conquest of a stubborn and tragic problem," he added.

Adverse weather was not an important contributing factor in 1962 or 1967. Records show that last year some 80 per cent of the fatal crashes occurred on clear days and dry roads. The remaining 20 per cent occurred in fog, rain and snowy weather.

Excessive speed continues to hold top spot in the list of accident causes, with reckless driving and driving on the wrong side of the road taking second and third places respectively. Pedestrians were at fault in many of the fatal accidents, with crossing between intersections being the top killer. Youthful drivers hold the greatest responsibility on the highway death list.

Yosemite National Park--Serenity Again?

An appropriate serenity is being restored at Yosemite, majestic queen of the national parks.

The man responsible is a new Superintendent with an "old fashioned" viewpoint, namely that Yosemite should resemble as much as possible nature's original gift, without the traffic jam, the pot-smoking hippie, or the urban-sized camping population.

Lawrence C. Hadley, who heads up the National Park Service there, has devised a master plan which, through a series of controls, may make the park into what it used to be.

Hadley's plan has for the most part been well-received by this summer's visitors to the Park. It emphasizes controls in three areas: traffic, camp-sites, and enforcement of park regulations. Its results are evidenced by the peacefulness of the past several weeks during the season's height.

Traffic and camp-site controls begin at the park entrance, where rangers now pace the flow of vehicles into the park and assign camp-sites to each party. These sites have been clearly marked, and the visitor may camp only at the grounds assigned to him. Automobiles moving through the roads of the Valley now follow a one-way traffic pattern, which relieves congestion.

Camping on the Valley floor is restricted to seven days, although other areas in Yosemite still permit 14 days. This allows a rapid turnover of campers, and although the marking of sites has served to eliminate unrestricted camping, the 1,150 locations now available actually provide more area for each camper than was the case before. The new regulations discourage age use of Yosemite Valley by all-summer campers and hippie tribes, but this permits more sight-seers to visit this wonderland of nature. Close enforcement of Park regulations has spurred a further incentive for the hippie elements to proceed elsewhere, according to Rangers.

In fact, so orderly has the park become in recent weeks that Yosemite Park and Curry Company, the concessionaire which operates the hotel, lodges and housekeeping camps, has been able to offer desirable facilities in mid-season.

Interstate Mileage On The Go In Five States

Five states now have more than 1,000 miles of interstate and defense highways open to public use, a traffic authority for a firm of automobile physical damage specialists notes. Total mileage in the national system now in use is close to 26,000 miles out of the 41,000 miles planned.

A traffic expert for Quality Adjustment Service, Inc., said a federal report disclosed that Texas had the largest mileage completed — 1,990 miles. Second was California with 1,351, and then Ohio 1,909, New York, 1,050 and Pennsylvania 1,029.

Air Traffic Problems Studied

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Fourteen immediate steps which should be taken to alleviate air traffic delays were proposed today by the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association (AOPA) which stressed that although delays are causing inconvenience and economic loss, there is no reduction in air safety.

AOPA recommendations ranged from reducing the amount of controller-pilot radio contact to the elimination of controlled flight below 10,000 feet when visibility conditions do not require instrument flight rule operations. This proposal includes a requirement for a continuous flight watch for other traffic.

In addition to the 14 points for immediate action, the 145,000 member organization of general aviation pilots and airplane owners proposed seven long-range steps to accommodate the growth of air commerce.

The proposals were made in a letter to D. D. Thomas, Assistant Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration in response to an FAA request for industry and user views on how the air traffic system can be altered to meet the tremendous demands on it.

The main thrust of AOPA's proposals was aimed at reducing the pressures on the air traffic control system by causing more aircraft to operate outside the system under flight rules already in practice by most airplanes except during the time when visibility requires that they be monitored and directed by ground based controllers.

AOPA declared that "the highest priority must be given to the ruthless elimination of every single rule or practice that cannot be supported by hard, factual justification." Much of the cause for present day delays can be traced to placing unnecessary burdens on the air traffic control system, AOPA contends.

Highlights of AOPA's proposals include the following recommendations.

Eliminate IFR (Instrument Flight Rules) below 10,000 feet except when required by weather and visibility. A speed limit of 250 knots is now imposed in these lower altitudes permitting aircraft to see and avoid other traffic. Non-IFR flights, which is the bulk of all airplane operations, requires little or no direct contact with ground controllers.

Make greater use of presently existing runways by permitting more cross-wind take-off and landing which are within the safe operation limits of aircraft.

Encourage and require intersection takeoffs (a takeoff initiated at some place other than the farthest end of the runway) when ample runway length exists for the safe operation of the particular airplane.

Re-examine all noise-abatement procedures which delay traffic or constitute a safety hazard and change them to permit maximum traffic flow.

Reinstitute Special VFR, a system whereby aircraft in the control zone of an airport may be vectored by the controller when visibility is poor without the necessity for a complete instrument flight plan.

Double the capacity of wide runways by permitting two small airplanes to use the same runway simultaneously.

Reduce the radio communication requirement on controllers by placing signs at runway turn-off and eliminating the requirement for specific clearance to land when the runway is clear.

Senior Citizens Getting New Assistance

More than 11,000 checks, representing over one and one-half million dollars, have been mailed to senior citizens throughout the State as a result of the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance law.

The payments average almost $140 and already some of the recipients are writing or calling the Franchise Tax Board and asking what they should do with the checks, said Bruce Walker, Assistant Executive Officer.

"The answer, of course, is 'cash them immediately,'" Walker said. "These checks represent property tax relief for 1967-68 and should not be held to apply against next year's tax bill."

He added that some recipients may be confused because the check does not contain the name of the Franchise Tax Board, it is an ordinary check issued by the State Controller's Office, as most State warrants are.

Walker added that under this new program, no lien is required to be placed on the property or the estate of the claimant, nor does the amount of the reimbursement have to be paid back to the State at any time.

Claims for property tax assistance will be accepted until August 31, and those who are eligible but have not filed should do so immediately. To benefit from the program, an individual must be 65 years of age or older, must be a resident of the State, must have owned and occupied his own home between July 1, 1967 and June 30, 1968, and have paid the property taxes. Household income cannot exceed $3,350 under the present law.

Claim forms may be obtained from any office of the Franchise Tax Board, Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, Box 1588, Sacramento, Calif.

Insecticides Studied

Insecticide surveillance is being given increased emphasis by the Department of Fish and Game with the arrival of the peak of the spraying season.

The DFG said today it is hopeful the current surveillance work and efforts to develop safe spraying methods will provide the needed protection for beneficial species of fish and wildlife. The DFG is following the use of insecticides in cotton very closely and will initiate remedial action if wildlife problems should develop.

A special effort is being made to evaluate the effects on birds of chemicals used to control insect pests of cotton in the San Joaquin, Imperial and Palo Verde valleys.

The use of insecticides in these areas is expected to be particularly heavy this year on the basis of forecasts of unusually heavy insect infestations.

The DFG has been working during the past months with several major pesticide manufacturers to encourage the development of methods of applying insecticides that are safe from the standpoint of fish and wildlife.

Need Some Hiccups Remedies?

A sudden attack of hiccups, although almost always a source of great amusement to those who are witnessing it, can cause great embarrassment and considerable discomfort to the victim.

The disorder is a minor medical mystery, since neither its cause nor its treatment is fully understood, but only rarely is it serious enough to warrant medical treatment.

Hiccups are caused by spasmodic contractions of the diaphragm, the muscular partition which separates the chest cavity from the abdominal cavity.

The normally smooth function of this muscle, which plays an important role in the breathing process, is short-circuited by some type of irritation, and the muscle goes into spasm.

As the diaphragm moves downward, the victim inhales quickly, and the glottis (the vocal cords and surrounding structures) at the base of the tongue involuntarily snaps shut across the throat.

It is this reflex action that causes the audible, repeated "hic."

Ordinarily an attack of hiccups is over within five or ten minutes, during which time everyone contributes his pet remedy for the distressful happening, one of which usually works.

It might be pointed out that hiccups can end with no treatment whatsoever; sometimes all that is needed is to have the victim's attention distracted. But occasionally an attack of hiccups will go on for hours, for weeks, even in rare cases for years. In such instances, the patient cannot eat or sleep, has difficulty breathing, and can become gravely exhausted.

Long before this happens, medical treatment should be sought.

A great variety of irritants can trigger an attack of hiccups.

It might be caused by rapid eating or drinking, particularly of highly spiced foods or of alcohol, gulping liquids that are too hot or too cold, excessive smoking, fatigue, or hearty laughter after a big meal.

Hiccups sometimes develop as a post-operative complication or in association with a number of diseases—including influenza, appendicitis, bronchitis, uremia, central nervous system disease, and certain psychological disorders including hysteria.

Babies can be relieved of hiccups by a few gentle pats on the back. The same treatment—intensified—is still used for adults.

Thumping the victim on the back is a time-honored method of treatment.

Other home remedies include holding your breath, breathing deeply, holding your tongue out so the glottis cannot close, and exhaling and inhaling into a paper bag.

Taking steady sips of water breaks the spasmodic rhythm for some people, and others can be shocked out of their reflex spasm by being shouted at.

Cold applications on the spine or warm ones on the diaphragm may relieve the spasms. The aim of all home remedies (except those at the level of pure witchcraft) is to reduce the irritation to the diaphragm and to interrupt the rhythmic spasms.

If the hiccups have not subsided after an hour, a doctor should be consulted. Sometimes it is necessary to empty the stomach by inducing vomiting or by irrigation. Sedatives, anesthetics, or even hypnosis may be used to put the patient to sleep and thus break the cycle.

Other medications, such as anti-spasmodics, drugs which dilate the blood vessels, and anti-nausea drugs may be indicated.

In severe cases of prolonged hiccups, when other treatment does not provide relief, the doctor may either temporarily block or surgically sever one or both of the phrenic nerves, which carry motor impulses to the diaphragm.

Law Officers Hear Coach At Meeting

More than 40 top police officers, sheriffs, chiefs and their wives met at Tahoe Sands Motel Friday, as the monthly meeting of the Northern California Police Training Officers Association was conducted.

Guest speaker was Lee Calhoun, who at 35, is still trim enough to skim across the 110-high hurdles. Calhoun, now track coach at Grambling, as well as assistant professor of physical education, is assisting hurdles in training at Echo Summit in preparation for the Olympic Trials.

A sports magazine poll once called Calhoun the "greatest hurdler of the century".

"But I believe Harrison Dillard was the best," Calhoun said. He also said he thought Bob Mathias was the greatest all-around athlete he had ever seen compete.

Calhoun is one of three men in the world to ever run the 110-meter hurdles in 13.2. Earl McCullough, who recently signed to play professional football, and West Germany's Martin Lauer are the two others.

Sierra Pacific Power Co. is designing an industrial "community portrait" brochure of Douglas County.

It is planned as one of a series prepared by the utility on Nevada's small communities and will be distributed in September.

Five other brochures have already been printed by the company, according to Walt MacKenzie, public relations executive.

Nevada State Fair Opens On Sept. 11

RENO — The Big Foley and Burke midway has contracted to return to Reno for the Nevada State Fair Sept. 11-15, direct from the California State Fair in Sacramento.

The return of the carnival, one of the largest in the nation, marks its 16th annual appearance in Reno for the mid-September show—the successor to the 15-year-old Washoe Agricultural and Industrial Fair.

Secretary-Manager Clarence J. Thornton told President R. D. (Roe) Fuhrman and his board of directors which annually stages the non-profit fair, only a few choice exhibit spaces are still available. Thornton informed the regular monthly meeting of the board that he has 16 display areas which have not been reserved. At this time a year ago the number of available spaces was 27.

One feature of this year's fair will be the fine arts display, open to living artists from the entire state with a maximum of two in any media. Work must be original and unsupervised, not shown previously in Nevada Artists Association competitive shows.

Entries will be received at the Armory Building on the fairgrounds Sept. 9 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Judging and hanging will be Sept. 10.

Nearly 100 4-H Club members exhibited at the first county fair in 1953. Last year this had increased to about 700 and even more rural and urban youth are expected to participate this year.

One of the most popular events will be a repeat of the "Tournament of Thrills" auto show Sept. 13-14.

The Miss Rodeo Nevada pageant will be held along with the Horsemen's Memorial Fund horse show Sept. 15.

Although the fair has grown dramatically since it was inaugurated in 1953, the price has not changed. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for youngsters aged 7-12. Children 6 years and younger are admitted free. Exhibitors will be charged the 50 cents per square foot of booth space—the same price they paid 16 years ago.

Nevada Notes Record Fatality

Nevada recorded its 144th highway fatality Saturday night in a one-car mishap 15 miles south of Gardnerville on Highway 395.

The victim was Owen J. Hollis, 52, Minden. He was killed about 9 p.m. when his vehicle lost control, ran off the road and overturned. The accident was investigated by the Nevada Highway Patrol in Carson City.

Camel Races Set At Virginia City

VIRGINIA CITY — Virginia City has set aside Sept. 6-8 for the running of the annual National Camel and Ostrich Races. Thousands of viewers come from all over the country each year for this unusual event. Admission is free.

Evans, Pender, Vaughn Star In 'Summit Meet

By Howard Schwartz and John Wehrheim

Jon Vaughn, Jay Silvester and Mel Pender all came close to world records and Lee Evans and Ed Burke turned in 1968 "bests" as the biggest crowd yet flocked to Echo Summit Saturday for the second intra-squad meet among Olympic hopefuls held here.

Next week, the 150-man squad splits — for meets in Eugene, Ore., and Houston, Tex., for sea level competition.

However, Saturday, Aug. 31 they'll be back, and a week later, Olympic Trials get under way, with the decathlon finals Sept. 6-7, and the track and field finals Sept. 9-17.

Vaughn had a chance at setting a new world record in the pole vault (record is 17-7 3/4 by Paul Wilson), when he attempted at 17-9 — but it might have been before the smallest crowd in history.

It was after 6 p.m., and most of the crowd of nearly 3,000 had left after the final race — and Vaughn was alone.

He had cleared 17 feet, so he earned three more cracks at a new height.

He didn't make it, but he tried — twice.

The first attempt was just that — he never got more than a foot off the ground, but it was counted as a try. On his second attempt, he missed badly, knocking the bar off with his chest.

"I guess I was really too tired to be serious — but I took a potshot at it," he said.

"Actually," the UCLA star said, "I wasn't going to jump at all today (Saturday), because I just got here. You might just call it a glorified workout," Vaughn said.

Asked if a 17-9 was possible at this point in his training, he said he didn't really know — I was pretty tired out there, but I'm learning and improving on what I can do."

Vaughn's best this year, is also fourth best in the world in 1968 — 17-4. Frenchman Herve D'Encasse has the best so far this year — 17-7 1/2. Bos Seagren, who was not in competition Saturday, has a 17-6 1/4 and East Germany's Wolfgang Nordwig is third best at 17-5 this year, so far.

Evans is looking for a 44.7 in the 400-meters here and a 44.3 in Mexico City (which would crack Tommie Smith's standing world mark of 44.5).

Evans had only been up here 11 days when he competed Saturday.

He ran well enough Saturday, but said "his lungs were burning."

"I eased up at the tape, but I felt very strong, considering the time I've been up here. I'm a little worried about the heats in Mexico City, and the recovery period between them," Evans said, after he ended up in the oxygen tent.

Evans couldn't understand how his 44.9 in the 400-meter run was wind-aided. "I was moving against the wind most of the race," he said. Any- way, Evans' 44.9 shows why he's a good bet to win in the Olympic Trials Sept. 9-17 here, plus a gold medal at Mexico City.

His mark Saturday, wind-aided or not, was the best time this year in the event. Larry James of Villanova recorded a 44.9 earlier in the year. James took third in a 200-meter dash heat — nothing impressive, but he's been in training at high altitude less than two weeks.

Nicknamed "The Mighty Burner," he's been recovering from a gum infection in recent months and is not at peak form. Evans' best previous mark in 1968 was a 45 flat. Vince Matthews, who finished second to Evans at 45.9, has recorded a 45 flat already this year.

Mark Winzenried, a freshman at the University of Wisconsin, but representing the Monroe Track Club, who said "he ran scared in earlier meets this year," even surprised himself Saturday.

In the second heat of the 800-meter run, Winzenried felt "so good at the 600-meter point, that he just decided to let go." He won in 1:51.3, several strides ahead of Ron Kutchinski.

"I've only been here five days," Winzenried said, "and I've been trying new things — experimenting."

Jimmy Hines, with one eye on the Olympic Trials in September, and the other on a pro football career after the Olympics in Mexico City, didn't compete Saturday — but he's not in top shape, he admits.

Hines said "I didn't want to test it this early — although the altitude hasn't had much effect on me." The 21-year-old Texas Southern sprinter, who, this year, has a 9.2 in the 100-yard dash, a world record pending 9.9 in the 100-meter dash and a 20.2 in the 200-meter dash, plans on signing with the Miami Dolphins after Mexico City.

"I think I have football ability," was all Hines had to say about that aspect of athletics. But insofar as the 100-meter dash goes, he predicted "a 9.7 is possible in Mexico City and a 9.8 in the 100-meters at Lake Tahoe."

Lake Tahoe."

It was all Villanova in the 1,500-meter run, with Marty Liquori grabbing top honors in the first heat and Dave Patrick the second.

Patrick looked very strong in his win, although the 3:52.1 wasn't intended to be an impressive time.

"I felt very strong, and held back until the final lap — that's what I intended to do. I didn't want to lead, especially with that wind (estimated at 8-10 miles per hour at times). But I can go faster," Patrick said.

Burke copped the hammer throw with a 226-8 effort — best by any American this year. His American record is 235-11. He is recovering from an injured shoulder, as is Neil Steinhauer, who took second to a surprising Silvester in the shot put.

Silvester won the discus with a 215-flat heave, his second best effort of the year and second best in the world this year. His pending world mark is 218-3 1/2, set in Modesto last May. In the shot, he bested Steinhauer, 65-4 to 64-1/2.

Ralph Boston wasn't happy with his 26-3 1/4 long jump effort, but it was four inches better than Phil Shinnick, who took second. Best by any American and anyone in the world this year was a 27-4 by Bob Beamon in July.

Pender, called by some "the fastest 30-year-old man on earth," had a wind-aided 10 flat in the 100-meters, which equals the existing world mark for the distance.
